AN ENQUIRY INTO THE TIME of the COMING OF THE MESSIAH, AND THE Restoration of the Jews: IN A LETTER FROM Robert, Lord Bishop of Clogher, To An EMINENT JEW.

LONDON: Printed for J. BRINDLEY, Bookseller to His Royal Highness the Prince of WALES, in New-Bond-Street. 1751.
AN ENQUIRY

Into the TIME of the COMING of the MESSIAH.

S I R,

NOTHING surprizes me more than that Aversion, which I find many People shew both in their Words and Actions, to those who differ in Opinion from them; especially when they differ so widely as the Jews and Christians are generally thought to do; which Difference however is not so great as those who are ignorant of the true Christian Doctrines generally imagine.

But
But as I find that you are not of that unmanly Bent of Mind, and that you can bear the Conversation of those, who do not think as you do, even in Matters of Religion; I have ventured to set Pen to Paper in order to fulfill my Promise of giving you my Opinion, about the Time of the Coming of the Messiah, which you think is nowhere specified in the sacred Writings.

By the Coming of the Messiah, I do not mean that Coming of his, which we Christians think to have been fulfilled about 1750 Years ago, a little before the Destruction of the second Temple; and which we imagine to have been expressly foretold in the Books of Moses and the Prophets, and Hagiographa, and to have been accordingly accomplished by the Birth, and Sufferings and Death of Christ, or the Messiah, who then came in a State of Humiliation: But I mean the Coming of the Messiah in his State of Exaltation and Glory; when the Jews are to be restored to their own Land; and the Messiah shall make a triumphant and a personal Appearance on Mount Zion; at which Time the Jews and Gentiles shall be united into one People under Messiah, their Shepherd and King; and all People people, and Nations, and Languages shall serve and obey him.

Which is an Event that we Christians agree with the Jews in the Expectation of, and verily believe it must come to pass some Time or other, if the Scriptures of the Holy Bible have any Truth in them: And of which we look upon the present continued and tedious Dispersion of the Jews, which was foretold by the Prophets * to be antecedent thereto, as a living Proof, and an Earnest of its Veracity.

As it may therefore be some Satisfaction to the Jews in general, and to you, Sir, in particular, to be informed of the Time when their present Dispersion is to have an End; I shall, as far as lieth in my Power, endeavour to do it, by explaining those Prophecies which relate thereto; and which I have in some Measure already performed, by the Publication of a Treatise entitled † A Dissertation on Prophecy, &c. wherein I have shewed from a joint Comparison of the Prophecies of Daniel, and the Revelations of St. John, that this great Event is to take Place about 250 Years hence.

* See Isa.xi.11, &c. and Multitudes of other Places.
† Printed first in Dublin, and afterwards in London, 1749.
But as I cannot expect that the Jews, while they continue unconverted to the Christian Religion, will give themselves the trouble of perusing that Treatise; or will give any Credence to those Revelations, which are the prophetical Declarations of the best beloved Disciple of that Jesus, whom we Christians suppose to have been the Messiah, when he came in his State of Humiliation; I shall therefore at present confine myself to the Prophecies of the Prophet Daniel, whose Works the Jews themselves have placed among their Hagiographa, along with the Psalms of the holy David, and the Proverbs of the wise Solomon, and are acknowledged to have been divinely inspired by the Consent of the most learned Jewish Rabbins, and are by some of the Authors quoted in the Talmud preferred even before the Prophecies of Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi.

And if we consult this Prophet, we shall find some Hints which may lead us to this Discovery. For, says he, when describing himself as seeing a Vision, || Then I Daniel looked, and behold there stood other two, (Angels † Tal. Shanedrim.  || Dan. x. 7. xii. 5, 6, 7.

And when He shall have accomplished to scatter the Power of the Holy People, all these Things shall be finished.

Here then it is plain that there is a Period of Time fixed for the End of those Wonders of which Daniel had been speaking; which was also to take Place, at the same Time, when the scattering of the Power of the Holy People was to be accomplished, or finished. Which Period of Time is here notified under the Expression of a Time, and Times and a Half.

In order therefore to arrive at the true Meaning of this Passage, it will be proper to

* In the Hebrew it is a Part, but in another Place, viz. Dan. vii. 25. it is the dividing of Time, i. e. a Half.
to explain what is meant by this Period of a Time, Times, and a Half. In the second Place to consider what those Wonders are, and what that End is, which Daniel alludes to. And then it will also be proper to find out when it is that this Period of Time, which is here enigmatically couched under the Expression of a Time, Times and a Half is to date its Commencement. Which if we can do, it will necessarily discover to us when it is, that the scattering of the Power of the Holy People is to be accomplished.

Now the original Word which is here translated a Time*, properly signifies any stated, fixed, or appointed Time, or Season.

It is therefore made use of Lev. xxiii. 4 to denote those annual Feasts, which were every Year fixed to one stated periodical Revolution. And therefore may in this Place be understood to signify the Time of the periodical Revolutions of the annual Festivals, or a Year. And accordingly the Prophet Daniel makes use of the Expression of † seven Times to denote seven Years.

† יבשבע עArmy
And also in another Place, he, in order to explain this Expression more fully, says, the King of the North shall come at the End of Times, Years; to shew, that by the Word Times he meant Years. And Justin Martyr, who lived about 1600 Years ago, remarks that the Rabbins understood the Word Time often to denote a Year, according to the Language of the Prophets. So that according to this Interpretation the Expression of a Time, Times, and Half a Time, or of one Year added to two Years and a Half will make three Years and a Half. And as a Jewish Year is according to common Computation supposed to consist of twelve Months, and each Month of thirty Days, these three Times and a Half will be equivalent to 1260 Days. Having † Dan. xi. 13. †† Just. Dial. cum Tryph. p. 52.  To those who believe the Christian Religion this Interpretation can be proved to be true to a Demonstration; because this Period of a Time, Times, and Half a Time, is in the Revelations of St. John expressly said to be equivalent to 42 Months, and to 1260 Days. Compare Rev. xii. 6. with Rev. xii. 14. and xiii. 5. And to those who do not believe Christianity, it is nevertheless an uncontestable Proof, that above 1700 Years ago this Expression of a Time, Times, and Half a Time, was understood by some of the Jews themselves to be equivalent to 42 Months, or 1260 Days.

Having thus discovered what Period of Time is probably denoted by the Expression of a Time, Times, and a Half, let us now proceed to find out what these Wonders are to which the Prophet Daniel alludes; the only Way to discover which is to have Recourse to the preceding Part of these Visions, that were revealed to Daniel; and in particular to enquire whether there are any which have a Reference to this remarkable Period of a Time, Times and a Half, from whence we may be enabled to date its Commencement.

And if we look into the second Chapter of that Prophet we shall there find that Nebuchadnezzar the King had dreamed a Dream, which he had forgotten, of which Daniel did not only tell him the Interpretation, but also the Dream itself, as followeth. *Thou, O King, sawest and beheld a great Image: This great Image whose Brightness was excellent stood before thee, and the Form thereof was terrible. This Image's Head was of fine Gold; his Breast and his Arms of Silver; his Belly and his Thighs of Brass; his Legs of Iron; his Feet part of Iron and Part of Clay. Thou sawest till of Stone.]}

* Dan. ii. 31-33
Stone was cut out without Hands, which smote the Image upon its Feet, that were of Iron and Clay, and brake them to Pieces. Then was the Iron, the Clay, the Brass, the Silver, and the Gold broken to Pieces together, and became like the Chaff of the Summer-threshing Floors, and the Wind carried them away, that no Place was found for them; and the Stone that smote the Image became a great Mountain, and filled the whole Earth.

Then Daniel proceeds and says, This is the Dream; and we will tell the Interpretation thereof before the King. Thou O King art a King of Kings; for the God of Heaven hath given thee a Kingdom, Power, and Strength, and Glory, Thou art this Head of Gold. And after thee shalt arise another Kingdom inferior to thee. That is, the Kingdom of *Persia, which was denoted by the Breast and Arms of the Image which were of Silver; which Kingdom was erected.

* This Vision of Daniel's is universally acknowledged by all the Jewish Rabbins, as well as Christian Divines, to refer to the four great Empires of the World, viz. the Assyrian, Persian, Grecian and Roman; and the Stone which was cut out without Hands and smote the Image, to represent the Kingdom of the Medes and Persians.
ed by Darius and Cyrus out of the Ruins of the Kingdom of Assyria possessed by Nebuchadnezzar, and his Successors.

And another Kingdom, says Daniel, of Brass shall arise which shall bear Rule over all the Earth. That is, the Empire of Greece, which shall succeed the Persian Empire by the Conquests of Alexander over Darius.

And the fourth Kingdom shall be strong as Iron; forasmuch as Iron breaketh in Pieces, and subdueth all Things: And as Iron that breaketh all these, so shall it break in Pieces and bruise. That is, the Roman Empire, which brake in Pieces and subdued all the Kingdoms round about it, and brought all the Potentates in Europe, Asia, and Africa, which was the Extent of the then known World, into Subjection under its Power.

And, says Daniel, whereas thou satest the Feet and Toes, Part of Potters Clay and Part of Iron; the Kingdom shall be divided, but there shall be in it the Strength of Iron. That is, this Empire, notwithstanding its great Power, shall be rent in Pieces, and shall be divided into several lesser Principalities, as so many Toes; and yet nevertheless it shall not be so much reduced, but that there shall still be left so much of its Imperial Imperial Power, as may be said to partake of the Strength of Iron.

And forasmuch as thou sawest the Iron mixed with miry Clay; and as the Toes of the Feet were Part of Iron, and Part of Clay; so the Kingdom shall be partly strong and partly broken.

And whereas thou sawest Iron mixed with the miry Clay, they shall be mingled among the Seed of Men. That is, these Toes, or these new erected Principalities, shall not be occupied by Persons belonging to the Royal Family, but being mixed with miry Clay, shall be divided among the Invaders of this Empire, who shall be of the Seed of Men; that is of low Extraction, and not of Royal Blood. In Confirmation of the Truth of which Part of this Prophecy, I think I need only mention the Remark made by the Authors * of the Universal History, on the Invasion of the Western Empire by Odoacer, who made himself King of Italy.

"At length, say they, Italy with its proud Metropolis, which had for so many Ages given Law to the Rest of the World, was enslaved by a contemptible Barbarian"

* Univ. Hist. Vol. VII. B; iii. Ch. 34.
Then the Prophet proceeds: Nor shall they cleave one to another, even as Iron is not mixed with Clay. That is, these Toes, or these separate Kingdoms shall never unite again into one Principality. Which is a Truth that we daily see verified by the separate Interests, which the various Kingdoms in Europe, Asia, and Africa at present pursue; and the Independence which they still preserve on the Roman Empire, of which they were formerly only so many Provinces. And which we may be assured will never be united again under one Universal Monarchy, till the Stone cut out without Hands becometh a great Mountain, that is, till the Kingdom of the Messiah.

For, says Daniel, and in the Days of these Kings shall the God of Heaven set up a Kingdom, which shall never be destroyed; and the Kingdom shall not be left to other People; that is, while this Empire thus continueth divided, the God of Heaven shall erect a new Kingdom, which shall not be left to other People, that is, shall not descend like the Inheritance of other Kingdoms to a Succession of Princes, but shall remain under one continued Head; and shall break it Pieces, and consume all these Kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever.

Whence it is reasonable to conclude that this last Kingdom, which is alluded to by Daniel under the wonderful and supernatural Emblem of a Stone cut out without Hands, which became a great Mountain and filled the whole Earth, and which is particularly specified, as set up by the God of Heaven never to be destroyed, and which, shall not be left to other People, but shall stand for ever, is the Kingdom of the Messiah.

Which will still appear more plainly under the next emblematical Vision that was shewed to the Prophet Daniel, which is still more particular both in the Description of this Kingdom of the Messiah, and of the Time of its being set up.

For says Daniel, * In the first Year of Belshazzar, King of Babylon, Daniel had a Dream and Visions of his Head upon his Bed.
Four great Beasts came up from the Sea, dis-ers one from another. The first was like a Lion, and had Eagles Wings: and, says Daniel, I beheld till the Wings thereof were plucked, and it was lifted up from the Earth.

* Dan. vii. 1, &c.  † Heb. Saw.
and made stand upon the Feet as a Man, and a Man's Heart was given to it. And behold another Beast, a second, like to a Bear, and it raised itself upon one Side, and it had three Ribs in the Mouth of it, between the Teeth of it. And they said them unto it, arise, devour much Flesh. After this I beheld, and lo, another like a Leopard, which had upon the Back of it four Wings of a Fowl; the Beast had also four Heads; and Dominion was given to it. After this I saw in the Night Visions, and behold a fourth Beast, dreadful and terrible, and strong exceedingly; and it had great iron Teeth, it devoured and brake in Pieces, and stamped the Residue with the Feet of it, and it was divers from all the Beasts that were before it, and it had ten Horns. I considered the Horns, and behold, there came up among them another little Horn, before whom there were three of the first Horns plucked up by the Roots: and behold, in this Horn were Eyes like the Eyes of a Man, and a Mouth speaking great Things. I beheld till the Thrones which belonged to these Beasts were cast down, and the Ancient of Days did sit, whose Garment was white as Snow, and the Hair of his Head like the pure Wool: His Throne was like the fiery Flame, and its Wheels as burning Fire.
A fiery Stream issued, and came forth from before him: The Judgment was set, and the Books were opened: I beheld then, because of the Voice of the great Words which the Horn spoke; I beheld even till the Beast was slain, and his Body destroyed, and given to the burning Flame.

As concerning the rest of the Beasts, they had their Dominion taken away; yet their Lives were prolonged for a Season and a Time.

I saw in the Night-Visions, and behold, one like the Son of Man, came with the Clouds of Heaven, and came to the Ancient of Days, and they brought him near before him. And there was given him Dominion, and Glory, and a Kingdom, that all People, and Nations, and Languages should serve him: His Dominion is an everlasting Dominion, which shall not pass away, and his Kingdom that which shall not be destroyed.

I Daniel was grieved in my Spirit, in the Midst of my Body, and the Visions of my Head troubled me. I came near unto one of them which stood by, and asked him the Truth of all this: so be told me, and made known the Interpretation of the Things. These great Beasts which are four, are four Kings, which shall.
shall arise out of the Earth; but the Saints of the most High shall take the Kingdom, and possess the Kingdom for ever, even for ever and ever.

Here then let us stop a little, for although we are not yet come to the most material Part of this Prophecy of Daniel, with Regard to our present Purpose, yet it may not be improper to take Breath for a Moment, and recollect the Purport of what hath been already mentioned; and upon a Revival of it, it will appear to be a second, but more particular Description of the same Period of Time, and of the same Transactions, with the Dream shewed before to Nebuchadnezzar, only under a different Set of emblematical Representations, exhibiting to us an Abstract of the most material Affairs, that were to happen in this World from the Time of the Delivery of this Vision to Daniel, till the triumphant State of the Kingdom of the Messiah.

For says the Angel to Daniel, These great Beasts which are four, are four Kings, or Kingdoms. That is, these four Beasts are the emblematical Representations of the four great Empires of the World, viz. the Assyrian, Persian, Grecian and Roman, which are are to succeed each other, and after the Determination of which no other universal Monarchy shall arise, till the Saints of the most High shall take the Kingdom, and possess it for ever, even for ever and ever.

Let us therefore see how this Interpretation will agree with the Particulars of the foregoing Parts of this Prophecy. The first Beast, says Daniel, or the Assyrian Empire, was like a Lion and bad Eagles Wings; that is, was furnished with great Power and Strength of various Kinds; but says he, I beheld till the Wings thereof were plucked, and it was lifted up from the Earth, and made to stand like a Man, that is, I beheld, till I saw it deprived of a great Part of its Strength, by having its Wings plucked, that is, some of its Territories taken from it; and being at the same Time deprived as it were of two of its Feet, by the Revolt of two of its Provinces, Media and Persia, on the Destruction of the Army of Sennacherib before Jerusalem, it was made to stand up only on two Legs as a Man, feeble, tottering and weak; and had a Man’s Heart, given it; that is, instead of being fierce like a Lion, it became fearful and timorous.

Now

Now it is to be observed that this Vision was in the first Year of Belshazzar, King of Babylon, who was the last Prince that filled the Throne of the Assyrian Empire, which was then upon the Decline, or according to the Vision on its last Legs. For it was during the Reign of this Prince that Babylon was taken by Darius the Mede, which laid the Foundation of the Persian Empire under Cyrus.

And the second Beast, says Daniel, was like a Bear, and it raised itself upon one Side; that is, it raised itself on one Side first, by Darius the Mede taking Babylon; and then it got upon its Legs by the Conquests of Cyrus, who established the Persian Empire; and had three Ribs in the Mouth of it, between the Teeth of it, that is, the three Principalities of Sardis, Babylon and Egypt, which were reduced under the Persian Dominion by Cyrus and his Successors.

After this I beheld another, says Daniel, like a Leopard. The Activity of which Beast, and the sudden Vivacity with which it seizeth its Prey, being no unsuitable Emblem to represent the extraordinary Impetuosity, with which the Conquests of Alexander the Great were carried on, who destroyed Arrested the Persian and founded the Grecian Empire. Which Beast, says Daniel, had upon the Back of it four Wings of a Fowl, and had also four Heads. Which is here intended to denote the Division of this Empire into four Parts, which came to pass upon the Death of Alexander and Hercules, the two Sons of Alexander the Great; the four great Captains, viz. Cassander, Lysimachus, Ptolemy, and Seleucus, having by mutual Consent divided this great Empire amongst them; Cassander reigning over Macedon, Greece, and Epirus; Lysimachus over Thrace and Asia; Ptolemy over Egypt, Libya, Arabia, Carthage, and Palestine; and Seleucus over Syria; till they were all reduced again under one Head by Julius Caesar, who established the Roman Empire.

And behold, says Daniel, a fourth Beast dreadful and terrible and strong exceedingly; and it had great iron Teeth; it devoured and brake in Pieces, and stamped the Residue with the Feet of it, and it was divers from all the Beasts that were before it, and it had ten Heads. Which is an Emblem to denote the Power of the Roman Empire, that was exceeding strong, and mighty like Iron, and devoured every Thing, and trampled all the World.
World under its Feet, and may be said to have continued in its Grandeur and undivided till after the Time of Theodosius the Great; when it began to break into a great Variety of lesser Principalities, represented in this Vision by the Emblem of ten Horns; as it was in the preceding Vision or Dream shewn to Nebuchadnezzar and Daniel, under the Emblem of ten Toes. Not that there is any Necessity to interpret these ten Horns literally of ten Kingdoms, the Word Ten being often used in the Language of the Scriptures to signify many in general, as when Elkanah said to his Wife, *Am I not better than ten sons? So we may also understand these ten Horns as only denoting many Principalities, though Sir Isaac Newton, and others have endeavoured to reduce them precisely to that Number, and whoever has a Mind to be further satisfied upon that Head, may consult those Authors; but as I do not think so literal an Interpretation to be necessary, I choose to decline it at present, in order to avoid Disputes.

And says Daniel, I considered the Horns, and behold, there came up among them another little Horn, before whom there were three of the

the first Horns pluckt up by the Roots; and behold in this Horn were Eyes like the Eyes of a Man, and a Mouth speaking great Things. As this little Horn will be more particularly considered by and by, I shall only observe at present that it is here mentioned as having Eyes and a Mouth to denote its being a living Creature, or Beast, which is an Emblem under which Kingdoms and Principalities are represented by Daniel in this Vision; and under which Denomination of a Beast this little Horn is specified immediately after by this Prophet; for, says Daniel, I beheld them because of the Voice of the Words, which the Horn spake; I beheld even till the Beast, or little Horn, was slain, and his Body destroyed and given to the burning Flames; that is, till this Principality was entirely overturned. As concerning the Rest of the Beasts, or the other remaining Horns or Kingdoms, they had their Dominion taken away; yet their Lives were prolonged for a Season and a Time. That is, though their Dominion was superseded, yet they were neither utterly nor immediately destroyed, as the little Horn was, but were received for a Season and a Time as Subjects under the superior Dominion of one like the Son of Man.
And continue Daniel, I saw in the Night Visions, and behold one like the Son of Man, came with the Clouds of Heaven, and came to the Ancient of Days, and they brought him near before him; and there was given him Dominion, and Glory, and a Kingdom, that all People, and Nations, and Languages should serve him; his Dominion is an everlasting Dominion, which shall not pass away, and his Kingdom that which shall not be destroyed. Whence it is plain that the Dominion of the little Horn is to last till the Coming of one like the Son of Man, to whom shall be given, by the Ancient of Days, a Kingdom over all People, Nations and Languages, which shall never be destroyed: that is, till the Kingdom of the Messiah cometh, which is to be an everlasting Kingdom, that shall not pass away.

And now let us proceed, and see how this agrees with the Explanation of this Vision, as it is unfolded by the Angel to Daniel in the subsequent Part of this Prophecy. For says Daniel, then I had a Mind to know the Truth, (or the true Meaning) of the fourth Beast, which was divers from all the others, exceeding dreadful, whose Teeth were of Iron... and

and his Nails Brass, which devoured, brake in Pieces, and stamped the Residue with his Feet; and of the ten Horns that were in his Head, and of the other which came up, and before whom three fell, even of that Horn that had Eyes, and a Mouth that spake very great Things, whose Look was more stout than his Fellows. I beheld, and the same Horn made War with the Saints, and prevailed against them; until the Ancient of Days came, and the Judgment was given to the Saints of the most High, and the Time came that the Saints possessed the Kingdom.

In Answer to which thus, He, the Angel, said, "the fourth Beast shall be the fourth Kingdom upon Earth, that is the Roman Empire, which shall be divers from all Kingdoms, on Account of its ten Horns, but more particularly on Account of the little Horn, which the Angel declares is to be divers from all other Horns, and shall devour the whole Earth, and shall tread it down and break it in Pieces. And the ten Horns out of this Kingdom are ten Kings, or Kingdoms, that shall arise; and another shall arise after them, and he shall be divers from the first ten Horns, and he shall subdue three Kings, or Kingdoms; and he shall speak great Words against the most High."
High, and think to change Times and Laws: and they shall be given into his Hand until a Time, Times, and the Dividing of Time, or Half a Time. But the Judgment shall sit and they shall take away his Dominion, to consume, and to destroy it unto the End. And the Kingdom and Dominion, and the Greatness of the Kingdom under the whole Heaven shall be given to the People of the Saints of the most High, whose Kingdom is an everlasting Kingdom, and all Dominions shall serve and obey him. Hitherto is the End of the Matter.

Here then we are come again to a Period of Time, distinguished by the Denomination of a Time, Times, and Half a Time, which is to commence with the Reign of the little Horn, and is to finish with the Introduction of the triumphant Reign of the Messiah, during which Time the Saints are to be given into the Hand of the little Horn, till the Judgment shall sit, and the Dominion of the little Horn be taken away, and given to one like the Son of Man, whose Dominion shall not pass away. So that if we can but find out who this little Horn is, and when it was that this little Horn did arise out of the Roman Empire, we shall thereby thereby be led to discover when, and how long it is to 'the End of these Wonders, as Daniel in the Place first quoted expresseth it, since he there decla\(res\) that it shall be for a Time, Times, and Half a Time, and when God shall have accomplished to scatter the Power of the holy People, all these Things shall be finished.

Now as it is manifest that this little Horn is described, as rising up after the Roman Empire had been split into ten Horns, that is; after it had been dismembered of several of its Provinces, therefore neither Domitian, nor Julian, as the Romanists would suppose it to be; nor Constantine the Great, as some of the Jews have conjectured, can be denoted by this little Horn; nor any Prince, or Principality whatsoever before the Time of Theodosius the Great, till after whose Death the Roman Empire continued entire and undivided.

And as one of the Marks whereby this little Horn is distinguished, is that before it three of the first Horns were plucked up by the Roots, which Particularity is repeated \(\dagger\) three Times, that we may take the more Notice of it, I think it very remarkable that

that of all the Kingdoms which have been erected out of the Spoils of the Roman Empire, there is no one of all the Princes belonging thereto, who hath taken upon him to wear a triple Crown, but the Pope of Rome: And I cannot help thinking, that this Piece of Pride, which was at first assumed to denote the Sovereignty of the Bishop of Rome over the three Principalities of which the temporal Power of the Popedom is composed, viz. the Campagnia of Rome, the Exarchate of Ravenna, and the Region of Pentapolis, which were plucked up by the Roots by King Pepin and Charles the Great, and given to the Pope, and of which the Patrimony of the Popedom consists to this Day; I say, I cannot help thinking this proud Emblem of a triple Sovereignty in the Pope, to be a providential Mark in the Forehead of that Potentate, to guide us to the Knowledge of that little Horn, before whom three of the first Horns fell, and were plucked up by the Roots. Which little Horn is also described as being divers from all other Horns, or Kingdoms; and whose Mouth, says the Vision, speaketh great Things, and his Look is more stout than his Fellows, and shall speak great Words against the most High, and shall wear wear out the Saints, and think to change Times and Laws.

Which Characteristicks agree so wonderfully to that Potentate, and to that of all the Potentates of the Earth alone, that it is hardly possible to mistake it. For it is a little Horn, and it is divers from all other

Horns, as claiming a spiritual Jurisdiction, not only over its own Subjects, but also over all the Kingdoms in Christendom: So that tho' it be a little Horn, and very little indeed with Regard to the Extent of its temporal

Dominions, yet hath it a Mouth speaking great Things, and a Look more stout than its Fellows, instead of its Hand, giving its Foot to be killed by all that approach it. And he spaketh great Words against the most High, by commanding the Worship of Images, and Reliques, and Saints; and by presuming to give Absolutions, and grant Indulgencies for Sins. And he wear eth out the Saints with

Courts of Inquisition, and Persecutions of all Sorts; and think eth to change Times and Laws, that is, to make all Institutions human or divine stoop to his Will and Pleasure. Of which I think I need not produce a stronger

Instance than the Character which is given of Pope Hildibrand, who assumed the Name of Gregory the Eleventh, by the learned Dupin, who cannot be suspected as a prejudiced Person against the Pope, further than the Force of Truth obliged him to be, since he lived and died a Member of the Church of Rome; who says, "No sooner was this Man made Pope, but he formed a Design of becoming Lord spiritual and temporal over the whole Earth; the supreme Judge and Determiner of all Affairs, both Ecclesiastical and Civil; the Distributer of all Manner of Graces, of what Kind soever, the Disposer not only of Archbishops and Bishopricks, and all other ecclesiastical Benefices, but also of Kingdoms, States, and the Revenue of particular Persons." And in another Place he says, "That his Aim was to bring all crown'd Heads under his Subjection, and to oblige them to hold their Kingdoms as Fiefs of the Holy See, and to govern them at Discretion."

And now having found out who this little Horn is, which speaketh such proud Things, let us endeavour if we can to find out when he began to reign; because the Saints † Id. ibid. p. 48.

Saints are to be given into his Hand for a Time, Times, and a Half; at the End of which Period the Scattering of the holy People is to be accomplished, and the triumphant Reign of the Messiah to commence. And for this Purpose I think we cannot possibly assign a more proper Period than that, when the Pope of Rome had so far shaked off his Dependence on the Emperor, as to change the Manner of Dating his Bulls and Epistles from the customary Form of the Year of the Reign of each Emperor, to that of Dating them by the Years of his own being in the Popedom. Which remarkable Event came to pass A. D. 755, for though the Power of the Pope as Bishop of Rome, was gradually increasing from the Time that the Emperor Constantine had declared in Favour of Christianity; yet it was not till the above Year, when Pepin King of France came into Italy, and conferred on the Pope the Dominions of the Exarchate of Ravenna, and the Region of Pentapolis, that the Commencement of the Reign of the Pope as a temporal Prince can justly be dated.

But as the Period of a Time, Times and a Half, that is of three Years and a Half, or of Newton's Observat. on Dan. p. 79.
of 1260 literal Days is long since expired without the Completion of the remaining Part of this Prophecy; that is, of the Restoration of the Jews, and the triumphant Appearance of the Messiah, we must suppose these Days to denote so many Years, as was customary in the Language of the Prophets. For thus the Prophet Ezekiel, in explaining one of his own Prophecies, declares, saying, *I have appointed thee each Day for an Year. So that if to this Period of A. D. 255, we add the Length of Time for which the Saints are to be given into the Hand of this little Horn, and which is characterised under the Expression of a Time, Times, and a Half, or of 1260 Years, this will bring us to A. D. 2015, which nearly corresponds with the 6000th Year of the Age of the World. About which Time we may probably expect the Accomplishment of the Scattering of the Holy People; as also that the Dominion of the little Horn, which we see daily decreasing; will then be entirely removed, and conferred on one like the Son of Man; who shall come with the Clouds of Heaven, and there shall be Dominion and Glory; and a Kingdom given unto him, that that all People and Nations, and Languages should serve him.

I do acknowledge that this Calculation is made according to the Computation of the Age of the World among Christian Chronologers; who generally compute the 43d Year of the Reign of Augustus Caesar, from whence the Christian Æra commences, to have coincided nearly with the 4000th Year of the Age of the World. Whereas the Jews suppose the 3761st Year of the World's Age to coincide with the 43d Year of the Reign of Augustus, which makes a Difference of 239 Years between the two Calculations. But though I have in a * Treatise formerly published, vindicated the Chronology of the Hebrew Bible, as far as it is mentioned in the Books of Mosè; yet I fear it cannot be so easily vindicated afterwards; and I fear much more, that since the Babylonish Captivity, and the Decay of the Spirit of Prophecy in the Jewish Church, by the Death of Malachi, the Chronology of the Jewish Rabbins is hardly to be vindicated at all.

* Published at London, A.D. 1747, by J. Brindley, in New-Bond-Street, and entitled the Chronology of the Hebrew Bible vindicated, &c.
For though it must be acknowledged that the Jewish Church seems to have been in its greatest Purity during the Reign of the Maccabees, as happens to all Churches when they are under Persecution, Affliction being the Mother of Devotion; and that the Jews were at that Time very observant of the Ceremonies of their own Religion, yet they were then, as at all other Times, very unobservant of what was doing in the other Parts of the World, or of making themselves acquainted with Arts or Sciences, or with History or Chronology in particular; Josephus, who lived about the Time of the Destruction of the second Temple, being the only Historian of Note, belonging to that Nation, and his Numbers must be acknowledged to be very incorrect.

I do not propose, at present entering into a nice Scrutiny; or going into any critical Disquisitions with Regard to the exact Year in which any of these Events either have already, or are likely to come to pass. Some of the Events, those for Example, which relate to the Division of the Roman Empire, and the Rise of the Popedom, having been fulfilled fulfilled with sufficient Exactness, to give us Reason to hope for the fulfilling of the rest. And as the Prophet Zechariah observes, that the evening of this Day which shall be known to the Lord shall be light, therefore tho' the precise Time is not exactly specified, there is enough sufficiently revealed to excite our Curiosity, and make us look out for the break of Day. For in Accounts of this Nature where the Computations are large, are made up out of a great Variety of Events, and the Periods of the Times to be computed are at a great Distance from each other, the Annunciation of a few Years is not to be regarded. And especially when we consider that those Events, either of the Downfall of the Popedom, or the Restoration of the Jews, or the Establishment of the Kingdom of the Messiah, will probably not be brought about all at once; so that although they may begin to take Effect, nearly about the same Time, yet they will not be completed in so short a Space of Time as that of a few Years. It being probable that, according to the Prophet "Daniel

Daniel, the Coming of the Messiah in a visible Appearance attended with Power and great Glory, will not be till about seventy-five Years after the Overthrow of the Popedom; during the first thirty Years of which Period * many shall be purified, and made white and tried, as the Prophet Daniel expresseth it. Who says, that from the Time when the daily Sacrifice hath been taken away, and the Abomination of Atonishment is set up, that is, from the Time that the Abomination of Atonishment, or the Popedom, is set up, after the daily Sacrifice hath been taken away, there shall be a thousand two hundred and ninety Days, which are thirty Days, or prophetic Years, more than the one thousand two hundred sixty Days which are allotted for the Destruction of the Popedom. And from thence to the Completion of seventy five Years, the remaining forty-five Years will be spent in the further Restoration of the Jews, and the Calling in of the Gentiles: For, says Daniel, Blessed is he that waiteth, and cometh to the Thousand, Three Hundred, and five and thirty Days, which

* Dan. xii. 9, 10, 11, 12.
which are seventy five Days, or Years, more than there are in a Time, Times, and Half a Time, or in forty and two Months of Years. Which therefore will probably be the precise Time of the glorious Manifestation of the Messiah. However when we speak of these Events in general, and in round Numbers, we may suppose they will come to pass about the 6000th Year of the Age of the World. Which wonderfully coincides with an ancient Tradition that prevailed among the Jews above 1700 Years ago. Which Tradition is to be found in the Talmud, under the Head Rosch Haschana, and in the Section that begins Jom Tob, and is to this Purpose: That *this World is to last 6000 Years, in its present State, and after one millenary more, it shall be destroyed; as it is said, and the Lord alone shall be exalted in that Day, that is, in the seventh Millenary. According to which Tradition the Jews then asserted that the Messiah was to come at the End of 6000 Years from the Creation of the World

* שמות אלפים שנה בו היגולה זורד החרים

i.e. Sex millibus Annorum erit Mundus, & in uno felicet Millenario, erit destructus; sic ut dictum est, & elevabitur Dominus solus ipse in Die illo. Isa, ii. 11.
World, that the Manner in which God is said by Moses to have created the World, by making it in six Days, and appointing the seventh to be a Sabbath of Rest to Man and Beast; as also his appointing every seventh Year to be a Sabbath of Rest unto the Land, in which they should neither plow nor sow; and every seventh Sabbath of Years, to be a *jubilee, in which Liberty should be proclaimed throughout all the Land, unto all all the Inhabitants thereof, was a Type of this seventh Millinary. Which †Tradition the Jews then made use of in Argument against the Christians, when these last upon the Destruction of the Temple of Jerusalem, by Titus, and the actual ceasing of the Oblation and Sacrifice, insisted upon it, that according to the Prophecies contained in the Hebrew Bible, the Messiah must be come: To which the Jews thought it sufficient to reply, that the World was not yet 6000 Years old.

Whence it appears that the Jews had a Tradition of the Coming of the Messiah at the the End of 6000 Years. But if we consider how they disposed of these six thousand Years, we shall then find that they had also a Tradition that the Messiah was to come at the End of four thousand Years. Which Tradition is to be found in the Talmud, under the Head Shanedrim, Section Hekc; as also in Havoda Zara, Section Liphe Edeben, to this Purpose, that * this World is to last six thousand Years, two thousand Years of which may be reckoned as the Age of Vanity or rather of Inanity; two thousand the Age of the Law; and two thousand the Age of the Messiah.

Whence it is plain that according to this Tradition the Messiah ought to have been come above 1700 Years ago, or even according to the Calculations of the Jews themselves above 1500 Years ago. And therefore in order to reconcile these two Traditions, we are not to suppose there are to be two Messiah's.

* Sententia Domus Elie, sex millia Annum erit Mundus; duo millia Inanitatis; duo millia Legis; & duo millia Dierum Messiae.

† According to the computation of the Jews the present Year 1750 is the 5511th Year of the Age of the World.
stab's, as some of the Jews have vainly imagined, for the Scriptures positively declare that there shall be but one Messiah; for thus faith the Prophet Ezekiel, when speaking in the Name of God, || I will set up one Shepherd over them, and he shall feed them, even my Servant David, he shall feed them, and he shall be their Shepherd.

And therefore since it is manifest that the Prophet * Isaiah speaks of the Messiah as in a State of Affliction and Distress, we may suppose these two thousand Years of the Days of the Messiah, which the Tradition reckons as Part of the six thousand Years, to be his State of Humiliation; since it is allowed on all Hands both by Jews and Christians, that the Messiah hath not yet appeared in his State of Exaltation.

And correspondent hereto is the Tradition of Rabbi Abija, in that Part of the Talmud before quoted, viz. in Rosh-Haschana, in the Section that begins Jom Tob. Wherein he asserts that after two Millenaries then shall come one of Refreshing, in Proof of which he quotes the Prophet Hosea, where he says, † After two Days he will revive us, in the third third Day he will raise us up, and we shall live in his Sight. Which undoubtedly alludes to the two Millenaries of Years, during which Time the Kingdom of the Messiah is to be in its depressed State, whereas in the third it shall be raised into a State of Glory. And therefore the Probability is that the grand Jubilee of the seventh Millenary will be honoured by the Appearance of the Messiah in a State of Triumph and Glory; when the Kingdom and Dominion, and the Greatness of the Kingdom under the whole Heaven, shall be given to the People of the Saints of the most High, whose Kingdom is an everlasting Kingdom, and all Dominions shall serve and obey him. Which, says the Prophet Daniel, is the End of the Matter.

As to the Unity of the Godhead which you so much insisted on, you may be assured that the true christian Doctrine asserts that Position as strongly as the Jews can possibly do. I do indeed acknowledge that some Disputes, which arose among Christian Divines in the fourth Century, and which are not yet quite abolished, gave too much Cause for the Enemies of Christianity to triumph; but as it would be hard upon you to be obliged to vindicate all the idle Decisions...
tions of your Schools; so neither shall I attempt to vindicate all the silly Determinations of our Councils.

You know, as well as I, that the Word Elohim, God, is in the Hebrew Bible applied to Men and Angels, as well as to the supreme God, without impeaching the Unity or Supremacy of the one God. And that not only the Appellation of the Son of God, but also of God, is applied to the Messiah, in particular in the Scriptures of the Old Testament, as for Example, when God, speaking of the Messiah, says to David, I will be his Father, and he shall be my Son. Wherefore the holy David when speaking in the Spirit, concerning this Promise, I will declare the Decree Jehovah hath said unto me, Thou art my Son, this Day have I begotten thee. Nor is he only spoken of under the Character of the Son of God, but also as God. For thus the holy David, when speaking of the Messiah, faith, ||Thy Throne, O God, is for ever and ever; the Sceptre of thy Kingdom is a right Sceptre: Thou lovest Righteousness and hatest Wickedness; therefore, O God, thy God, hast anointed thee with the Oil of Gladness above thy Fellows. And the Prophet

* a Sam. vii. 14. † Psa. ii. 7. || P. xlv. 6, 7.
Prophet Isaiah, when speaking of the same Person, saith, *Behold your God will come with Vengeance, i.e. to subdue his Enemies, even God with a Recompence, i.e. for the Remission of our Sins, He will come and save you. Then the Eyes of the Blind shall be opened, and the Ears of the Deaf shall be unstopped, &c. Which Texts with many others, to the same Purposes, are universally applied to the Messiah, by all Divines both Jewish and Christian.

And if you will allow us the same Latitude of Interpreting our Scriptures, as you take in the Interpretation of yours, you will find the Unity and Supremacy of the one only God as strongly asserted therein, as in your Scriptures. As a Proof of which I shall beg leave to produce one Text out of many, which is to be found in the Writings of Paul of Tarsus, who was one of the Apostles of Jesus, whom we suppose to be the Christ or the Messiah. And that is in his Epistle to the Corinthians, where he says, For tho' there be that are called Gods, whether in Heaven or in Earth, (as there be Gods many, and Lords many) yet to us there is but one God,

* Isa.xxxv. 4, 5; † See Psal. cx. 1, 2.

 1 Cor. viii, 5, 6.
the Father, of whom are all Things, and we in him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all Things, and we by him. And in another Place he faith, * Though we or an Angel from Heaven, preach any other Gospel unto you, than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. With whom I sincerely join in saying Amen.

As to our Reasons for laying aside the Practice of Circumcision, and the rest of the Mosaicall Institutions, this would take up more Time than I am Master of at present, to put it in an easy and true Light: but if I find that what I have here written meets with a proper Reception, I shall not decline giving you all the Satisfaction in my Power upon those Heads, as well as upon any other which either may occur to myself, or shall be suggested unto me. In the mean Time, I recommend you to the divine Protection, and remain,

Your sincere Well-wisher;

and most obedient, humble Servant,

POSTSCRIPT.

The polite Reception, which the above Letter met with in Manuscript, hath encouraged me to send it to you in Print; and to proceed in endeavouring to discharge the Engagement above entered into. And I can now promise that it will not be long before I shall do myself the Honour of sending you a second Letter on the Subject therein mentioned, which will conclude with an Abstract of the Evidence on which our Belief in the Christian Religion is founded.

ADVERTISEMEN TO THE READER.

I should be ungrateful if I did not acknowledge the Obligations I am under to Ramundus Martinus, in his Treatise entitled Pugio Fidei; and to Pet. Galatinus, in his Treatise de Arcanis catholicae Veritatis, for their Reference to several of the Passages which I have here quoted out of the Talmud and Midrascos.

MESSIAH:

SIR,

Proceed now to endeavour to discharge myself of that Promise which I had entered into in my former Letter: And as there ought to be an Umpire in every Dispute, to whose determination the Differences in question are to be referred; I shall set out with acknowledging those Books of the Holy Bible, which you allow to be Canonical, to be the proper Judges of this Controversy. And therefore as I shall frequently have occasion for appealing to them; and as I do not write Hebrew with any readiness, I choose to begin with setting down their Names both in,
in English and Hebrew, that when I quote the English Name, or the Hebrew Word in Roman Characters, you may, by consulting this part of my Treatise, find out what Book it is in the Hebrew Bible to which I refer.

The Names and Order in which you place your Canonical Books, are these.

In the Interpretation of which Scriptures or the application of them to the Argument before us, I shall not appeal to any Christian Commentators, of what Emi-nency soever, but to the Commentators of the Jewish nation, who have either written Targums upon the Scriptures, or Mi-drašcots, i.e. allegorical Comments; or else, whose Sayings are recorded in the Jewish Talmud, against whose Testimony, therefore, the Jews can have no Objection.

And, Sir, as this Letter is not intended barely for your own Use, I shall beg leave, through you, to address myself to the whole Nation of the Jews. And because I know it is the Custom with several of the Jewish Rabbins, when any of the unlearned raise Difficulties, and defire Information, with regard to any of the Prophecies in the Bible, relating to the Messiah, to say to them Sathum bu, i.e. it is a hidden or secret Thing; I shall lay before them the Authority upon which the Validity of these Targums, the Midrascots and the Talmud is founded; that the unlearned as well as the learned, may be able to judge of the Force of this Evidence.

The Word Targum signifies an Interpretation, these Works are therefore so called, because they are a Collection of those Interpretations, which were given to the Scriptures of the Hebrew Bible by the most learned Doctors, or Rabhins, of the Jewish Nation. For the Jews, at least many of the lower, and younger sort, during their long Continuance under the Babylonish Captivity, being separated from one another, and forced to converse with the Chaldeans, thereby learned the Chaldee Language; and forgot the Hebrew, which was their ancient native Tongue. Insomuch that * Ezra, when he read the Law to the People, upon their return return to Jerusalem, had several Persons standing by him, well skilled both in the Hebrew and Chaldee Languages, who interpreted to the People, in Chaldee, what he first read to them in Hebrew. And afterwards when the Method was established of dividing the Law into Fifty-four Sections, and of Reading one of them every Week in the Synagogue, the same Method of Reading to the People the Hebrew Text first, and then of interpreting it into Chaldee, was still continued. And as these several Interpretations, in Time became very Voluminous, certain Rabbins undertook to Collect them together, and this Collection they called the Targum. The two most famous Targums, or Works of this kind, that are come to our Times, are those of Jonathan and Onkelos.

* Nehem. viii. 4, 8.

I am very sensible that the Jewish Rabbins are not universally agreed, about the precise time when these Targums were composed; but the most probable Opinion is that R. Jonathan Ben Uzziel, who was bred in the School of Hillel, lived under the Reign of Herod the Great, and that the Targum Targum of Onkelos, which is rather a Version than a Paraphrase, is still older: And that the reason, why * Jonathan, according to the Opinion of some Rabbins, paraphrased only the Prophets, was, because that Onkelos had executed his Targum on Pentateuch with so much Success as to render any further Paraphrase needless.

The Midrashot's or Derafhots are allegorical Interpretations on the Books of the Scriptures, which have been published by several of the most learned Rabbins, being derived from the radical Word שור Quære to Inquire. By which Word therefore it is intended to denote that these Works are Inquiries into the hidden or spiritual meaning which is mystically couchèd under the literal Expressions in the Scriptures.

The Word Talmud signifies the same Thing with Doctrine or Discipline; and therefore the Work which goes under this

* There is a Targum on the Pentateuch, said to have been composed by Jonathan, which is undoubtedly ancient, though it is kontested, whether it was written by him or not. There is also a Targum called the Jerusalem Targum, which is likewise ancient, but not of equal Repute with those of Jonathan and Onkelos.
this Title, contains a Collection of all the Traditions of the Jews, which relate either to their Doctrine or Discipline. The occasion of which Collection being made was this. It hath been an established Opinion among the greatest part of the Jews; that besides the written Law which was delivered to Moses at Mount Sinai; there was also an oral Law delivered to him at the same Time, which hath been conveyed down by the Traditions of the Prophets and Rabbins; and which they think themselves under the same Obligation to observe as the written Word itself. Which Traditions however, were never collected and set down together in one Volume, till about 600 Years ago, when Rab Judas Ben Simon about 120 Years after the Destruction of the second Temple, compiled them together in six Books, which he entitled מיסנה Mısna or Misna, which signifies the repeated Reading. Upon which several

† A great number of Jews however, who are distinguished by the Name of Karaites, allow no Weight, or at least comparatively speaking, very little, to any Traditions and adhere entirely to the written Word.

* N. B. This R. Judah, was on account of the Sanctity of his Life, called Haccapos, i. e. the holy. several of the most learned of the Jews, having immediately employed themselves in writing Comments, these Comments were called the Gemara, i.e. Perfection: Because that the Mishna being explained thereby, the whole traditionary Doctrine of the Jewish Law and Religion, was in their opinion perfected and compleated: The Mishna being the Text and the Gemara, the Comment thereupon.

But as this Gemara was not the Work of one Man but of several, and that made at various Times and on various Parts of the Mishna; Johanan, about 300 Years after the Destruction of the Temple, with the assistance of some other Rabbins, made a Collection of all these Comments, and putting them and the Mishna together composed that Work which goes under the Denomination of the Jerusalem Talmud; because it was compiled by the Jews of Judaea. But these Comments still encroaching; about 436 Years, or according to others, about 500 Years, after the Destruction of Jerusalem; Rab Assa undertook making a new Collection, and composed that that Work which goes under the Name of the Babylonish Talmud, because it was composed by the Jews of Babylon; and is divided just into as many Parts, which are called סדרים Sedarim, Orders or Heads, that is six, as the Mishna was originally. Which last Talmud is that which is in the highest Esteem among the Jews, not only on account of its Style, which is less antiquated than that of Jerusalem, but also on account of its being fuller than the former one, and for containing some Traditions more adapted to the Notions of those Jews who are unwilling to acknowledge the Messiah to be already come.

Now as this Book of the Talmud is held by most of the Jews, to be very nearly, if not absolutely of equal Authority with the Scriptures, I hope I shall be excused for the frequent Quotations I make out of it. And as I think universal Benevolence to be the Duty of all Mankind, I shall make no further Apology for the Trouble I give myself, and those who shall peruse this Address, than to assure them, that it proceeds proceeds alone from the sincere Good-will which the Author of this Paper bears towards all Mankind in general, and to you Sir, and your Nation in particular.

It is to your and to our Father Abraham, for we Christian Gentiles pride ourselves in that * Title by adoption, that we are indebted for the Promises; and it is through the Hands of the Jews, that we acknowledge to have received the sacred Writings of the Ancient Prophets; to them therefore, and their Writings, we join with you in our Appeal, as to an impartial and unerring Judge in the determination of this Controversy.

But before we proceed any further, it seems proper, in order to avoid all Disputes about Words, to declare what I mean by the Word Messiah. This Word literally, signifies one that is anointed, which was a Ceremony used under the Mosaical Dispensation, in * sanctifying or separating particular Persons to particular Offices, such as of || Kings, Priests, or Prophets.

* See Rom. iv. 11. &c. &c. † See Ex. xxvii. 1-7. i. Sam. xii. 5. ii. Sam. ii, 7. Ex. xxix. 7. 1 Chron.
And as there is reason from the Scriptures of the Hebrew Bible, to believe that God hath from the Foundation of the World appointed some one Person of extraordinary Note, to be as a King, Priest and Prophet to the Nation of the Jews, and through them to all the Nations of the Earth, in whom they shall all be blessed: Therefore this extraordinary Person is by way of Eminence, distinguished by the Title of the Messiah, according to the Hebrew, or of the Christ, according to the Idiom of the Greek Tongue, which also literally signifies The anointed.

And therefore we find this extraordinary Person described in the Scriptures of the Hebrew Bible, under each of these Characters; that is, as a King, as a Priest, and as a Prophet. Not that we are to expect to find this as fully and as plainly described, as that he that runneth may read; but so as that they who search the Scriptures with Diligence and Industry, and are of a teachable Disposition, may discover it there with sufficient ease. For though Almighty God hath framed Mankind for Happiness, yet yet this Happiness is not to be acquired without a little Labour and Industry on our Parts. The Earth will bring forth Briars and Thorns, if we do not take Care to cultivate and till it: The Oar lies hid in the Bowels of a barren Mountain, and is to be discovered by a few Marks in the Surface, known only to the Curious and Inquisitive. And why is all this Wealth so artfully concealed? Only to try and prove the Industry of Man. Knowledge also in general lieth deep, it must be dugg for before it is found; And why? Only to prove us, and try whether we think it worth the searching for.

And for this Reason it is that, although in the History of the Hebrew Bible, which seems to have been written chiefly with a View to instruct the Jews in the expectation of the Messiah before his coming, and the Knowledge of him when come; he is nevertheless rather obscurely hinted at, than openly revealed, here a little and there a little, that those who will not use their

their own proper Endeavours to discover the Truth, may go and fall backwards and be broken, and snared and taken. Or as the Prophet Daniel expresses it, that none of the Wicked may understand, but that the Wise may understand.

And hence it ariseth that there are such different Opinions concerning this extraordinary Person, and that the Jews and Christians differ so widely about him. And what contributes much thereto, seems to be this; that the Jews, out of a national Partiality towards themselves, are too apt to confine the Office of the Messiah, and the Benefit of his coming to their own Nation; and to suppose the Kingdom promised him to be entirely of this World; and that the chief Purport of his coming is to restore the Temporal Kingdom of Israel and re-establish the Throne of David. Whereas though it cannot be denied, but that the Nation of the Jews have been particularly favoured of God in the Promises made unto Abraham, that in his Seed...
Should all the Nations of the Earth be blessed; yet surely the Jews ought to consider, that although the Honour of being the Instrument of Happiness to all Mankind was conferred on the Seed of Abraham, yet that the Blessing was designed to all Nations, as well as them.

And that the Benefit which was to accrue to all Mankind in general, was the chief Purport of the coming of the Messiah is manifest from the Promise made to Eve immediately upon the Transgression of our first Parents; when God speaking to her concerning the Serpent, said, I will put Enmity between thy Seed and her Seed; it shall bruise thy Head, and thou shalt bruise its Heel. Which Text is by the Jews themselves, acknowledged to refer to the Messiah, and is applied to him by Name in the Targums of Jonathan and Jerusalem.

As therefore the whole Race of Mankind was equally affected by the Fall of Adam and Eve, if the Messiah comes to bruise the Serpents Head, the Redemption from

from the evil Consequences of this Fall, must extend also to the whole Race of Mankind, of which the Jews are but a Part, and a very small Part.

And if we consult the original Promises, which were made by God, concerning this Messiahs, to Abraham, to Isaac and to Jacob, we shall find from them that the Benefit of all Mankind in general, and not of any one Nation in particular, was the chief Design of the coming of the Messiahs. And accordingly we read, that when God sent forth Abraham out of his Country, and from his Kindred, and from his Father's House, to go into a Land that he would shew him; he then for the first Time, declared unto him † I will make of thee a great Nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy Name great, and thou shalt be a Blessing. And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee: And in thee, shall all the Families of the Earth be Blessed. God does not say, in thee or in one of thy Seed shall the rest of thy Seed be blessed; but as

as it is again repeated, when his Son Isaac was promised to him, *in him shall all the Nations of the Earth be blessed. And again, when Abraham had submitted to sacrifice his Son Isaac, God said unto him, †in thee shall all the Nations of the Earth be blessed, because thou hast obeyed my Voice. And to Isaac God said, ||I will make thy Seed to multiply as the Stars of Heaven, and will give unto thy Seed all these Countries, and in thy Seed shall all the Nations of the Earth be blessed. And when God was pleased to renew this Promise to Jacob, he said, §Thy Seed shall be as the Dust, and thou shalt spread abroad to the West, and to the East, and to the North, and to the South; and in thy Seed shall all the Families of the Earth be blessed.

Now as these Texts of Scripture are universally allowed, both by the Jews and Christians, to refer to the Messiah, it therefore follows of Consequence, that the Benefit of the Messiah's coming was designed to

to extend to all Mankind; and corresponds with the Promise made to our first Parent, that the Seed of the Woman should bruise the Serpent's Head, so that as in Adam all died, even so in the Messiah should all be made alive.

And hence it further appears that the Law of Moses cannot possibly be the Law of the Kingdom of the Messiah; because the Law of Moses is plainly designed as a Body of Laws, peculiar to the Jewish Nation, to keep them separate and distinct from all the Nations of the Earth besides.

I am sensible that the Subject which I am now entering upon is a very tender and delicate Point; and that it is an exceeding adventurous Undertaking; to attempt to persuade the Nation of the Jews that the Laws of Moses in general; except the Laws of the two Tables, which alone perhaps were for that very Reason, written particularly on Stone, as a Type of their duration, were only designed by God to be temporary Laws; and that the ceremonial Part is entirely to be abolished by the coming of the Messiah. But I am not without without Hopes, when they consider that the Messiah was not sent to the Jews alone, but that all the Nations of the Earth should be blessed in him; and recollect how small a Portion the Jews make of all the Nations of the Earth, that God will open their Eyes, and enlarge their Views, to consider the rest of Mankind as their Fellow Creatures, and in some Sense as their Brethren, being all both Jews and Gentiles, equally the Sons of Adam, or still more nearly related as the Sons of Noah; and that it must be exceeding absurd for them to imagine that God is the God of the Jews only, and not also of the Gentiles.

It was undoubtedly a kind and gracious Act in God, during the Infancy of the World, while Mankind was rude and uncultivated, and guided by little more than their Senses, in the choice of their Gods; while the Notions of Art Magic, a Regard for judicial Astrology, an Opinion of Witchcraft and Sorcery, and such ridiculous Impositions of artfull Men prevailed, to separate Abraham and his Seed, from the rest of Mankind; because God knew that he would would * command his Children and his Household after him, to keep the way of the Lord, and to do Justice and Judgment. And therefore about 300 Years after the Flood, when the Sons of Men had forgotten the traditionary Precepts, which had been delivered them by their common Parent Noah, and began almost universally to degenerate into Idolatry; then did it please God, to command Abraham to leave his Native Country, and to * circumcise every Man-child that belonged unto him, being either born of himself or bought with his Money: That by the Institution of this painfull and rigorous Ceremony they might be kept separate and distinct from the Nations round about; and might thereby be preserved from the general Corruption of Idolatry, which then prevailed, and into which they might otherwise have been ungardedly led, by too frequent and free a Communication between them and the rest of Mankind. And accordingly § Tacitus

the Roman Historian, makes this to be the chief Reason for the Jewish Practice of Circumcision, when speaking of the Jews he says, that Circumcision was instituted to preserve the Jews as a distinct People.

And about 400 Years after that, when the Progeny of Abraham was grown to be very numerous, it pleased God to give them by the Mediation of Moses a set of Laws peculiar to themselves, suited and adapted to their particular Circumstances; with an Intent to preserve them from being contaminated with the superstitious Ceremonies, and idolatrous Practices of their Neighbours: Wherein, among several others, the Command given to Abraham was renewed, and the Reason thereof more fully explained, by positively prohibiting all familiar Intercourse, and especially Marriage, * with the neighbouring Nations: This very Reason being assigned for it by Moses, least they should turn the Children of Israel to serve other Gods. And for this Reason also, it was that God by Moses, appointed but one Place of publick Worship for the Nation of the Jews, where they should offer up their Oblations and their Sacrifices, and where Justice and Judgment should be administered unto them, which must be inconsistent with the extensive Views of the Messiahs.

* See Gen. xxxiv. 14, and compare it with Exod. xxxiv. 16, Deut. vii. 3, i. Kings, xi. 2.

But in length of Time, as the World grew more wise, and did by long Experience discover many of the Cheats and Frauds of Magicians and Negromancers, and pretended Oracles; and Men by acquiring a better Knowledge of the Planetary System and of physical and secondary Causes, began to enquire after a first Cause; then did Idolatry begin to abate of its Force, not only among the Jews, but also among the Gentiles; many of whom, and in particular Cícero, wrote a Treatise 1800 Years ago, ridiculing all the pretended Forms of Divination, and acknowledging the Decay of oracular Determinations, and

and the imaginary Forms and Denominations of their Deities: And at the same Time the Græcians had erected Altars to the unknown God. By which Means the Danger of their Conversation being in some Degree removed, and their Minds being prepared for the Reception of a truer System of Divinity, those separating Laws which inhibited the Jews from the Communication of Mankind, became useless; and the rest of the World being ready and prepared to receive and acknowledge the Belief of the one true God, it seems rea-onable that the Partition Wall between Jew and Gentile should be broken down, and the Knowledge of the one true and invisible God, which had hitherto been preerved among the Jews alone, should be communicated through them to all Mankind.

And that the Information not only of the Jews, but of Mankind in general, in the Knowledge of true Religion, was one of the wise Purposes for which the Mes-fiah was to be sent into World is manifest from the Prophet Isaiah, when speaking of the Messiah in the Name of God, he says, * Behold my Servant whom I uphold, mine Elect, in whom my Soul delighteth: I have put my Spirit upon him, he shall bring forth Judgment to the Gentiles. I the Lord have called thee in Righteousness, and will hold thine Hand, and will keep thee, and will give thee for a Covenant of the People, for a Light of the Gentiles. And again the same Prophet sayeth, † And now saith the Lord that formed me from the Womb to be his Servant, to bring Jacob again to him, and that § Israel may be gathered to him, and that I may be glorious in the Eyes of the Lord, and my God shall be my Strength. And he said is it a small Thing that thou shouldst be my Servant, to raise up the Tribes of Jacob, and to restore the Captivity of Israel? I also will give thee to be a Light to the Gentiles, that thou mayest be my Salvation to the Ends of the Earth. And hence

* Isaiah xlii. 1, 6. † Isaiah lxix. 5, 6. § In the Hebrew, and shall not Israel be gathered? || So the Sept. Version and the Ta'gum of Jonathan render it.
hence it is that the Jewish Rabbins themselves are forced to acknowledge that the Gentiles are to be saved by the Messiah, as well as the Jews. And to this Purpose you may find it expressed in that Midras, which is entitled Beresbith Rabba, where on the xli Chapter, Rabbi Aba makes this Reflection, “Can it be said that the Redeemer is a respecter of Persons? Far from us be such an Imagination. For he will save and deliver all Persons who confide in him, in Thought Word and Deed. For so the Prophet Isaiah saith, in Chap. xlv. Look unto me and be saved, all ye Ends of the Earth. And again he saith, For unto me every Knee shall bow, every Tongue shall swear. And in the xxix. Chapter, I will also give thee for a Light to the Gentiles, that thou mayest be my Salvation, to the Ends of the Earth, &c.” And to the same Purpose you will also find the Sentiments of Juda, in the Talmud, under the Head Massecheth bicurim.

Whenever therefore the Messiah cometh, for whether he be yet come or not, I do not at present affirm, certain it is that the ceremonial Part of the Law of Moses must be superseded. And for this Reason it is that the Messiah is so particularly described by the Prophet Isaiah as setting up an Ensign to the Nations, that is, enlisting them under his Banner; and as sprinkling many Nations, that is receiving them as Protrulyes to his Doctrine, by the Form of Baptism; And again speaking as from God, the same Prophet sayeth, § I will make an everlasting Covenant with you, even the sure Mercies of David, that is, the sure Mercies of sending his Son the Messiah, which was promised to David, Behold, I have given him for a Witness to the People, a Leader and Commander to the People. Behold, thou shalt call a Nation that thou knowest not, and Nations that know not thee shall run unto thee. And again, ¶ The Redeemer shall come to Zion, and unto them that turn from Transgression in Jacob, saith the Lord. Arise, shine for thy Light is come, and the

the Glory of the Lord is risen upon thee.

For behold Darkness shall cover the Earth, and gross Darkness the People, but the Lord shall arise upon thee and his Glory shall be seen upon thee: And the Gentiles shall come to thy Light, and Kings to the Brightness of thy rising. And therefore the same Prophet also sayeth, * Neither let the Son of the Stranger, that hath joyed himself to the Lord speak, saying, The Lord hath utterly separated me from his People. For says he again, † In this Mountain shall the Lord of Hosts make unto all People a Feast of Fat Things, Which Fat Things were prohibited to be eaten by the Mosaical Law, for all the Fat is the Lord's, says § Moses, of Fat Things full of Marrow; a Feast of Wines on the Lees, well refined. And he will swallow up in this Mountain the covering which covered all People, and the Vail that is spread over all Nations: That is, he will remove the covering of Darkness, wherewith the Gentiles were covered, and the Vail by which they were seperated from his People of Israel: Than which one cannot well conceive any Prophetical Declaration to be more plain or more expressive of God's determined Purpose, some Time or other, to remove the Distinction betwixt Jew and Gentile, by a Law which is to be published by the Redeemer when he cometh to Zion.

And to this Purpose we shall also find the Prophet Malachi to be very explicit; who wrote after the Babylonish Captivity was at an End, and who mentions the History of Esau and Jacob as being the Type of two distinct Covenants; the one, that is, the old Covenant, made with the Seed of Abraham by Moses, which is represented under the Type of Esau, who is the Elder Brother, and the other the New Covenant, made with all Nations by the Messiah, which is represented by Jacob who was the younger Brother, and yet nevertheless got the Blessing. For says the Prophet, when speaking to the Children of Israel, I loved you says the Lord: yet you say, wherein hast thou Loved us? Was not not Esau Jacob's Brother, says the Lord. Yet I loved Jacob and hated Esau: and laid his Mountains, and his Heritage waste for the Dragons of the Wilderness. Whereas Edom faith we are impoverished, but we will return and build the desolate Places. Thus faith the Lord of Hosts, they shall build, but I will throw down; and they i.e. the Heathen, shall call them, the Border of Wickedness and the People against whom the Lord hath Indignation for ever. For from the rising up of the Sun unto the going of the same, my Name shall be great amongst the Gentiles, and in every Place Incense shall be offered unto my Name, and a pure Offering, for my Name shall be great among the Heathen, faith the Lord of Hosts. Mal. 1. 11.

And accordingly we find that Prophet, who was promised to the Children of Israel, when the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, *I will raise up a Prophet from among their Brethren, like unto thee; and will put my Words in his Mouth, and he shall speak unto them all that I command him. And it shall come to pass, that whoever

* Deut. xviii. 18.
Ever will not hearken unto my Words, which he shall speak in my Name I will require it of him. I say we shall find this Prophet declared by the Jewish Commentators to be the Messiah.

Thus you may find it said in Midras Coheleth, that is in the Exposition of the Book of Ecclesiastes, on those Words of Chap. i. v. 9. The thing that hath been, is that which shall be. Where R. Berachias faith in the Name of R. Ishac. As was the first Redeemer, that is Moses, so will the last Redeemer be, that is, the Messiah. But wherein consists the Similitude? Herein: as it is said Exod. iv. 20. And Moses took his Wife, and his Sons and set them upon an Ass. For so shall the last Redeemer do: As it is said, Zachariah ix. v. 9. He is just, and having Salvation, lowly, and riding upon an Ass, and upon a Colt the Foal of an Ass. And forasmuch as the first Redeemer caused Manna to descend; as it is written Exodus xvi. v. 4. Behold I will rain Bread from Heaven for you; so shall the second Redeemer be as pure Bread on the Earth,
"as it is said in the Psal. lxxii. v. 16.
"There shall be a Portion of Corn upon "the Earth. And as the first Redeemer "made a Fountain to spring up, so shall
"the last Redeemer, that is the Messiah,
"make Fountains of Water to arise; as it "is said in the last Chapter of Joel, v. 18.
"And a Fountain of Water shall come "forth out of the House of the Lord, and
"shall water the Valley of Shittim."

Thus far the Tradition. Not that I approve of the Method of Reasoning, for I think it is rather too forced; but I only produce it to shew the Matter of Fact, that Moses was esteemed by the most analyzed Jews as a Type of the Messiah.
And that * they understood this Portion of Scripture to be applicable to him.

For though it cannot be doubted, but that every Prophet, who is sent from God, hath a Right to require our Attendance and Obedience to the Words which he shall speak in the Name of God; yet is it manifest, that this Description here given, of a Prophet that was to be sent unto the Children of Israel from among their Brethren, alludes to some one particular and extraordinary Prophet, who was to be more like Mozes than any of the rest.

* See also Dav. Kimchi, in Lib. Shorash, Rad. וּֽשֶׁ}

Which Similitude between Mozes and that Prophet, seems to consist in receiving some new Law from God as Mozes did, Face to Face, and in being empowered to work Miracles, in Confirmation of this Mission as Mozes was, rather than in those trifling Circumstances which are enumerated by R. Isbac. And in this Opinion we are supported by the Author of the last Chapter of the Book of Deutonomy, which seems to have been written a good while after the Death of Mozes, where the Author, who ever he was, saith, And there arose not a Prophet since in Israel like unto Mozes, whom the Lord knew Face to Face; in all the Signs and the Wonders which the Lord sent him to do in the Land of Egypt, to Pharoh, and to all his Servants, and to all his Land; and in all that mighty Hand, and in all the great Terrour which Mozes shewed in the Sight of all Israel.

And
And accordingly the Jews themselves acknowledge that the Messiah whenever he cometh, shall do both of these; that is, shall publish a New Law and work Miracles. That he shall work Miracles appears from the Targum of Jonathan, on Isai. liii. 8. Where the Paraphrafs speaking of the Messiah adds in, but the wonderful Works that shall be done in those Days, who shall be able to tell? as also from the Commentary of R. Moses Hadarfon on Ps. lxxii 9. Where he faith, “R. Natronai asked what does that mean, We see not our Signs, there is no more any Prophet, neither is there among us any that know-eth how long? To whom R. Aha answered, this is said of that wicked Generation, who will not believe the Signs or Miracles which our holy Messiah shall perform; but shall say of him, that he doth these Things by the Power of Art Magick. And that those Miracles which he shall perform, are not the Miracles which were predicted of the Messiah. And that, as there is no Prophet to set the Truth before them, if he doth not bring "bring some Proof of the Truth of his Assertions, they will put him to Death.
Wherefore the Prophet, (in the following Verse) cryeth out O God how long shall the Adversary reproach? Shall the Enemy blaspheme thy Name for ever?
And that it was the Opinion of the most ancient Jewish Rabbins that the Messiah whenever he cometh shall not only be empowered to work Miracles like unto Moses, but shall also teach them a new Law, appears again from the Targum of R. Jonathan on Isaiah xii. 3. Therefore with joy shall he draw Water out of the Well of Salvation.
Which Passage is universally acknowledged by the Jews to refer to the Messiah, and which the Chaldee Paraphrast renders thus, Therefore with joy shall you receive a new Doctrine from the Elect of the Just. And in Midras Tehillim in the Observations on Psalm xxi. 1. where the Psalmivist faith, The King shall rejoice in thy Strength, O Lord, and in thy Salvation how greatly shall he Rejoyce! The Expositor remarketh, that " This is it which is written in Isaiah xi. 10. And in that"
"Day there shall be a Root of Jesse, which shall stand for an Ensign to the People. Upon which R. Hanna said, that the King Messiah should not come but to give new Precepts to the People.

Again in Midras Coheloth, on Chapter ii. 1. I said in my Heart go to now, I will prove thee with joy; therefore enjoy Good, and behold this also is Vanity. The Expositor remarketh, "What Good is here meant, is it not the Law? Why then doth not the Preacher say, behold this is Joy? What therefore is it that he means by saying, this also is Vanity? To which R. Hizkja answered; Because all the Law which is learned in this present Age is all Vanity in Regard to that of the Age which is to come. And that the Days of the Messiah is meant by that Age which is to come appears from the same Book, on Ecclesiastes, xi. 8. But if a Man live many Years, let him rejoice in them all, and yet let him remember the Days of his Darkness. Which is thus paraphrased. "If a Man live many Years, let him rejoice in them all, viz. With the the Joy of the Law; and let him remember the Days of his Darkness, which are many. For every thing that comes before, and all the Laws which a Man can learn in this Age are all Vanity in Comparison with the Laws of the Messiah.

And accordingly the Prophet Jeremiah speaketh of a new Covenant different from that made at Mount Sinai, which was to be published in the Days of the Messiah: For, says he, Behold the Day is come faith the Lord, that I will make a new Covenant with the House of Israel and with the House of Judah: Not according to the Covenant that I made with their Fathers in the Day that I took them by the Hand, to bring them out of the Land of Egypt, &c. And agreeably thereto the Prophets Isaiah and Micah describe the Messiah as publishing the Law from Zion, and the Word of the Lord from Jerusalem.

Now

*Jerem. xxxi. 31. †Isai. ii. 3. §Micah iv. 2, 3.
Now if this Law which was to go forth out of Zion, and which was to be published from Jerusalem, was not to be a new Covenant, and to be different from that which had been dictated from Mount Sinai, what Need was there for another Prophet to be sent with a Power of doing Miracles like unto Moses? And what use would there be for those Miracles, which the Jews themselves allow the Messiah will perform, if there is no new Commission to be evidenced by them? Or why should the Nations be defirous to go up to the Mountain of the Lord, that they might learn his Ways and walk in his Paths; if the Laws of Moses, which excluded them out of the Temple, and out of the Society of Jews, were still to continue in Force?

I am very sensible that it may be objected, that they might be admitted if they would turn Proselytes and be Circumcised. But to this it is easily answered. That then this would be no new Law: Because this was the very Thing which had hitherto prevented the devout Gentiles, and would continue to prevent them from conforming forming, even from the Days of Moses to the Days of Messiah. And though it should be added, that Moses declareth that his Laws were given to the Israelites for Statutes and for Ordinances forever; yet it cannot well be denied, and is accordingly, acknowledged by some of the most learned of the Jews themselves, that this Word is frequently applied to Things, which are to have a Determination, and that even in the space of a few Years; provided that the precise Time of the Determination is not particularly specified. Thus the Stones which Joshua erected upon passing the River Jordan, which have been long since removed, are said to have been placed there, as a Memorial to the Children of Israel forever. And the Temple that Solomon built, which lasted only about 400 Years, is said to have been erected as an Habitation for God forever. With numberless other Instances which might be produced, where this

* Vide Raschi and Aben Ezra, in Exod. xxi. 6. See also the Gloss of R. Solomon, on i. Sam. i. 22. As also the Remarks in Midras elle Hadebarim, on Deut. xv. 17. † Josh. iv. 7. § i. Kings viii. 13.
Word for ever is applied to finite Things provided that the exact Period of their continuance is not particularly denoted.

And accordingly it is the acknowledged Opinion of some of the most ancient of the Jewish Rabbins that the Distinction between Jew and Gentile shall be so far removed, that all Meat shall be clean, in the Days of the Messiah. For to this Purpose you will find it positively declared in Bereshith Rabba, where R. Moses Hadarson on Gen. xli. 1. &c. Observes that "This is alluded to in Psalm cxlvi. 8. In these Words, The Lord looseth those that are bound. For, faith he, every Beast which is now in this Age reputed unclean the holy and blessed God shall make clean in the Age which is to come, that is, in the Days of the Messiah, as every Thing was clean at first to the Sons of Noah; as it is said, Gen. ix. 3. Every moving Thing that liveth shall be Meat for you; even as the green Herb have I given you all Things. Wherefore as all green Herbs were clean to every Body, and as all Animals and Beasts were clean to the Sons of Noah; so also in the Age which is to come, that is, in the Days of the Messiah, He shall loose those that are bound.

Thus far therefore it appears, even by the Concession of the most ancient and learned Jews, that the Laws of Moses ought to be considered as temporary Laws, which were only to last to the coming of the Messiah; who when he cometh, is to publish a new Covenant from Zion, and the Word of the Lord from Jerusalem.

And as to his restoring the Captivity of Jacob, in a literal Sense, by re-establishing the Service of the Jewish Temple, and the Ceremonial Parts of the Mosaical Institution, many of the most learned Jews, are so far of a contrary Opinion, that they assert the Kingdom of the Messiah in its triumphant State is not to be governed like the rest of the Kingdoms of this World.

And accordingly some of the Jewish Rabbins, as mentioned in the Talmud, have acknowledgethe acknowledged it to be their Opinion, that the third Temple mentioned in the Prophecy of Ezekiel, which is to be built in the Days of the Messiah, is to be in Heaven; and is therefore to be understood as emblematically descriptive of the Grandeur of the Kingdom of the Messiah, in another World, and not in this. As appears from the express Declarations of R. Abba, in that Part of the Talmud entitled Shanedrim, Section Helec, where he declares "That the City mentioned in Ezekiel xlviii. 30. Sc. as being eighteen Thousand Measures about, ought to be spiritually understood of that City which is in the Presence of God. And the Gloss of R. Solomon saith "That the City mentioned towards the End of Ezekiel is to be understood of that Jerusalem which is above. Which City is not to be inhabited by mortal Men, but by those Saints and holy Persons, who having finished their Course in this Life, shall be raised out of their Graves by the Power of the Messiah to partake with him in the Glory and
"and Happiness which is prepared for them in his heavenly Kingdom.

And to the same Purpose you will find it expressed in the Midras of R. Moses Hadarjan upon Gen. ii. 9. And out of the Ground made the Lord God to grow every Tree, &c. Where the Gloss saith, "All our Fathers, and Moses and Aaron, and David and Solomon, and all the Kings of the House of David, and all the Prophets shall say unto the Messiah, the End is near; to you it belongeth to raise us from the Dead, as it is said in Hosea vi. 2. After two Days will he revive us, in the third Day he will raise us up, and we shall live in his Sight. Even Corah and his Company, and Absalom shall come to the Messiah, and say, how long will it be to the End of these wonderful Things? And when will you return and restore us to Life? As it is said in Psal. lxxxv. 5, 6. Wilt thou be angry with us forever; Wilt thou draw out thine Anger to all Generations; Wilt thou not revive us again; that thy People may rejoice in thee? Which certainly ly seems to be a much more rational Scheme than to suppose Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, to whom the Promises were made, not to be Partakers of the Blessings of the Reign of the Messiah, the Benefits of which should be reserved only for a few of their Posterity here upon this Earth, at the Distance from them of some Thousands of Generations.

But then it may be asked; Is not the Messiah to appear in a triumphant State upon Earth? Is he not to be born of the Seed of Abraham, and the Offspring of David? He is. But then at the Time of his first coming, when he comes upon Earth, as the Son of Man, he is not to appear in his State of Exaltation and Glory, but in a State of Humiliation and Abasement, of Poverty and Distress. According to the Description given of him by the Prophet * Jeremiah, O the Hope of Israel, the Saviour thereof in the Time of Trouble, why shouldst thou be as a Stranger in the Land, and as a way-faring Man, that turnest aside to tarry for a Night? Why shouldst thou thou be as a Man astonished, as a mighty Man that cannot save? Or as he is described by the Prophet † Zechariah, When he saith, Rejoice greatly, O Daughter of Zion; Shout O Daughter of Jerusalem; Behold thy King cometh unto thee; he is just, and having Salvation, lowly, and riding upon an Ass, and upon a Colt the Foal of an Ass. Which Texts are almost universally acknowledged by the Jews, to refer to the Messiah.

Which also corresponds with the Sentiments of R Moses Hadarsan and R Abba, who suppose the Messiah to have voluntarily undertaken the Redemption of Mankind, and upon that Account to be sent here upon Earth in a State of Suffering and Tribulation, as a Trial of his Obedience to God, and his Love to Mankind. As will appear manifestly by quoting the Words of R Moses Hadarsan, on Gen. i, 3. And God said let there be Light and there was Light. “Which, faith he, corresponds “with what we find written in the xcvii Psalm,

† Zach. ix. 9:
Psalm. Light is sprung up to the Righteous, which R Abba said, was also couch. ed in the Words of Daniel ii, 22. Where it is said, And the Light dwelleth with him. The Light which is meant thereby being the Light of the King Messiah. So also is it said of him Psalm xxxvi, 9. For with thee is the Fountain of Life, and in thy sight shall we see Light, which is to be understood of the Light of Messiah the King. He also teacheth that God hid the Messiah and his Generation under the Throne of his Glory, upon which Satan said unto God, Lord of the World what Light is that which lieth hid under the Throne of thy Glory? And God said, it is the Light of the Messiah and his Generation. Then Satan replied unto God, Lord of the World permit me and I will oppose Messiah and his Generation. And God, said thou canst not prevail against him, And Satan answered permit me and I shall be able. Then said the holy and blessed God, if you are set upon this attempt, I will destroy you Satan out of the World, but one of his Generation will I not suffer to perish: then the holy and blessed God, began to speak with the Messiah, and said to him, O Messiah my Just One, they who are hid along with Thee, are of this Kind, that by their Sins, they will bring you into great Affliction. Insomuch that your Eyes will not endure the Light; and your Ears will hear great Reproach; and your Nose will be offended with ill Smells;
and your Mouth will taste Bitterness; your Tongue will cleave to the Roof of your Mouth; and your Skin will stick to your Bones, so that your Courage will sink in Mourning and Grief. What therefore will you do? If you are willing to undertake these Things, it will be well with you; but if not, behold
I will remove them from you. Then Mesiah replied, Lord of the World it is with Joy that I undertake to suffer all this Tribulation and Anguish, upon this Condition, that in my Days you will bring all the Dead to Life, even all that have died, from the first Adam unto that that very Time. And not only those who have died natural Deaths, but those also who have been devoured by Wolves and Lions, as well as those that have been drowned in the Rivers and Seas; and not those only but also the Abortives; and not the Abortives only but all those who according to your omniscient Knowledge shall be born, and are not yet born, all those thou shalt save in my Days. Then said the holy and blessed God; I consent. And forthwith the Messiah voluntarily undertook all these Tribulations and Afflictions as it is written in Isaiah liii.

It may not therefore be improper to lay that whole Passage of the Prophet Isaiah, which is here referred to before the Reader; because it is the most ample and particular Description of the Messiah, that is to be found in any one Part of the Old Testament. * How beautifull, says the Prophet, upon the Mountains are the Feet of him that bringeth good Tidings, that publish

Lisbeth Salvation, that sayeth unto Zion thy God reigneth! Behold my Servant shall deal prudently, he shall be exalted and extolled and be very high. For he shall grow up before him (the Lord) as a tender Plant, and as a Root out of a dry Ground: He hath no Form or Comeliness: And when we shall see him, there is no Beauty that we should desire him. He is despised and rejected of Men, a Man of Sorrows and acquainted with Grief: and we hid as it were our Faces from him; he was despised and we esteemed him not. Surely he hath born our Griefs, and carried our Sorrows; Yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God and afflicted. He was wounded for our Transgressions, he was bruised for our Iniquities; the Chastisement of our Peace was upon him, and with his Bruises we are healed. All we like Sheep have gone astray; We have turned every one to his own way, and the Lord hath laid on him the Iniquities of us all. He was oppressed, and was afflicted, yet he opened not his Mouth; He is brought as a Lamb to the Slaughter; and as a Sheep before the Shechers Sheerers is dumb, so opened he not his Mouth. He was taken from Prison and from Judgement; and who shall declare his Generation? For he was cut off out of the Land of the living, for the Transgression of my People was he Stricken. And he made his Grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his Death. He did no Evil, neither was any Deceit in his Mouth; yet it pleased the Lord to bruise him, he hath put him to Grief. By his knowledge shall my righteous Servant justify many; for he shall bare their Iniquities. Therefore will I divide him a Portion with the Great; and he shall divide the Spoil with the strong; because he hath poured out his soul unto Death; and was numbered with the Transgressors, and bare the sin of many, and made Intercession for the Transgressors.

From the before mentioned Words of R. Abba it appears, as well as from other clear Testimonies of the best and most learned Rabbins, that the ancient Jews interpret this Chapter of the Messiah, and of Consequence that we ought to reject the Evasions ions of some recent Jews, who forcibly would draw the meaning of this Chapter to represent the whole People of Israel in their sufferings. R. Jonathan in his Targum on Isaiah, lii. ver. 10. expressly names the Person here spoken of and calls him the Messiah. R. Sal. Jarchi in his comment on the same Passage says, these Words, our Rabbins understand of the Messiah. For they say, that the Messiah is to be tormented as it is written; He hath born our Griefs and carried our Sorrow. To the same Purpose is what is read in the Midras, Ruth Rabba, where the Jewish Teachers explain the Words of Boas to Ruth, Dip thy Bit in my Vinegar thus: "He speaks of the King Messiah; Approach thou who art the nearest to thy Kingdom and eat the Bread, viz. the Bread of the Royal Government, and dip thy Bit into the Vinegar; this signifies his Torments as it is said: He was wounded for our Transgressions and bruised for our Iniquities, the Chastisement our Peace was upon."
Now as it is manifest, that this Passage of Scripture which is quoted from Isaiah, is by the Jewish Rabbins interpreted of the Messiah; it may not be improper to make the following Remarks.

First, That as Moses was a Type of the Messiah in his Prophetical or Legislative Capacity, so the high Priest under the Mosaical Institution seems to have been instituted as a Type and Figure of the Messiah; because the Mosaical high Priest, was, like him, appointed to * bear the Iniquities of the Sanctuary, and the Iniquity of the Priesthood. But how was this to be done? Why! By taking the Sins of the Priests and of the People upon himself, and transferring them upon the * Sacrifice, by laying his Hands upon the Head thereof: But the Messiah, that true high Priest, shall not be sent to offer up the Blood of Goats and of Calves; but to offer up himself as a Sacrifice for Sin, that in his own Person he may bear their Iniquities.

Secondly,

§ See page 34. * Num. xviii. 1. † Exod. xxix. 10, 15. Lev. 1. 4.
Secondly, It may be observed, that as the Mosaical Law was but a temporary one, whereas the Law of the Messiah is to be perpetual; so the Mosaical Ceremony of Atonement, was to be renewed once every Year: whereas this Atonement of the Messiah, when once made, cannot be renewed. Because, as it is appointed unto Men but once to die, so this Sacrifice of the Messiah, can be but once offered: And therefore, the Redemption obtained thereby must be compleat, so as not to stand in Need of any more Sacrifice for Sin. And accordingly the Prophet Isaiah, in the aforesaid Passage, affirms, that he was wounded for our Transgressions, he was bruised for our Iniquities, the Chastisement of our Peace was upon him, and says he, with his Bruises we are healed. All we like Sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the Iniquities of us all.

R. Salomo in his Comment on Dan. viii. 14. says expressly, that the Fruit of this Redemption by the King Messiah consists in the the Forgiveness of Sin, and that it is to be an everlasting Redemption.

If therefore the Redemption procured by the Sufferings and Death of the Messiah is perfect and everlasting, the consequence is, that the Mosaical Offerings are no longer of any Use, and must consequently cease.

And for this Reason it is that according to the Prophecy of the Prophet Daniel, when the Messiah cometh, he shall Cause the Sacrifice and the Oblation to cease; as there will be no further Occasion for them. And therefore also the holy David, when speaking in the Spirit and in the Character of the Messiah, saith, § Sacrifice and offering thou didst not desire, mine Eyes hast thou opened: Burnt-offering and Sin-offering hast thou not required: then said I, Lo, I (the Messiah) come; in the volume of the Book it is written of me, that I should fulfill thy Will O my God.

Now as it is very obvious that the Person, here introduced speaking, is the Messiah

* Dan. ix. 27. § Psal. xl 6.
Messiah, who by saying, Sacrifice and Offering thou didst not desire; Lo, I come, places himself in Opposition and instead of all Offerings, as that only acceptable pure and great Sacrifice of Atonement, whereof Isaiah saith, The Lord laid on him the Iniquities of us all. He bore the Sin of many. He gave his Life as an Offering for Sin. So it is remarkable, that although these Offerings for Sin were appointed to procure a Reconciliation between God and the Jews; yet the Lord plainly declares by David, that he did not regard these Sacrifices at all, when compared with the Sacrifice of Righteousness offered up by the Messiah. For so he says, Psalm. li. 16. Thou desirest no Sacrifice else I would give it thee, thou delightest not in Burnt-offering; Yet he says immediately after, Be favourable to Zion, then shalt thou be pleased with the Sacrifice of Righteousness: So that it would be Contradicting himself, if David in those Words spoke of one and the same Kind of Sacrifices. Whereas, his design is to give his People a View of the Insufficiency of the ordinary, and the Necessity Necessity of that extraordinary Sacrifice of Righteousness, which the Lord Messiah, our Righteousness, should offer in himself, and thereby sanctify the Souls of his People as living Sacrifices to God. And for this Reason it is, that the High Priesthood of the Messiah, is spoken of as superceding the high Priesthood of the Tribe of Levi; because he was not to be of that Tribe, but of the Tribe of Judah, nor was, his Power to last only for a Year, or even for Life, but for ever and ever; For thus saith the holy David, The Lord hath sworn, and will not repent, thou art a Priest for ever after the Order of Melchizedeck. Ps. cx. 4.

Lastly, It may be remarked, that it appears manifestly from this Passage of Scripture quoted out of Isaiah, that the Sufferings of the Messiah are to be in this World, when he comes as the Son of Man; Because he is not to be put in the Possession of his Triumphant Kingdom till after his Death. For saith the Prophet: *Therefore will will I divide him a Portion with the great, and he shall divide the Spoil with the Strong, for this very Reason, because he poured out his Soul unto Death.

But possibly you may object, that this is inconsistent with many Passages in the holy Scriptures where the Messiah seems to be promised under the Character of a temporal and a Triumphant Prince, who should restore the Sceptre to Israel, and establish the Throne of David for ever. Thus for Example the Prophet Jeremiah, speaking of the Days of the Messiah, saith,

† At that time they shall call Jerusalem, the Throne of the Lord, and all Nations shall be gathered unto it: In those Days, the House of Judah shall walk with the House of Israel, and they shall come together out of the Land of the North to their own Land. And the Prophet * Zechariah saith, Thus saith the Lord of Hosts, in those Days it shall come to pass, that ten Men, shall take hold, out of all Languages of the Nations, even shall take hold of the Skirt † Jer. iii. 17, 18. * Zech. viii. 23.

Skirt of him that is a Jew, saying, we will go with you, for we have heard that God is with you. And the Prophet Isaiah, faith, * For the ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion, with Songs, and everlasting Joy upon their Heads; they shall obtain Joy and Gladness, and Sorrow and Sighing shall fly away. And the Prophet Jeremiah faith, † Behold the Day is come, that He will raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute Judgement and Justice in the Earth. In his Day Judah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is his Name whereby he shall be called, The Lord our Righteousness, &c.

And certain it is that there are numberless Places in the holy Writings, which describe the Messiah as a mighty Prince; all which are particularly noted by the Jewish Commentators, for as it is a pleasing Subject they have seldom let any of them pass unnoticed. But as it is undoubted on

* Isai. xxxv. 10. † Jer. xxiii. 5, 6. See also Isai. iv. 5.
the other Hand, that the Messiah is also spoken of in a very different Character, as a Man of Sorrows and acquainted with Grief, &c: Therefore these different Descriptions which are given of the Messiah by the Prophets, have been the Occasion of some learned Rabbins conjecturing that there were to be two different Messiahs; The one, the Son of Joseph, and of the Family of Ephraim, who is to come in a State of Humiliation and Suffering, and is to be put to Death; The other the Son of David, who is to come in a State of Triumph and Exaltation, and is to bring the former one to Life again. But as this System of two Messiahs is contradictory to the Sentiments of several of the more learned Rabbins, who always speak of the Messiah in the singular Number; so, as I before observed in my former Letter, doth it seem to be entirely overturned by the express Declarations of the Prophet Ezekiel. Who speaking in the Name of God saith, * I will set up one Shepherd over them, even my Servant David; he shall feed them, and he shall be their Shepherd. And again he faith, And David my Servant shall be King over them, and they shall have one Shepherd.

So that it seems more consistient with the Scriptures, and with the Sentiments of the most learned Rabbins, as well as with Reason, to suppose that there is to be but one Messiah; and that it will be the same Person, who is to appear first in a state of Humility and Mortification, in order to bear our Iniquities and obtain the Redemption of Mankind, that shall afterwards appear in a State of Triumph and of Glory.

But then it may be urged how is this heavenly Kingdom of the Messiah consistient with the Promises of restoring the banished Jews both Judah and Israel to their own Land, and of establishing the Throne of David for ever? That there is to be a future Restoration of the Jews to their own Land under the Messiah their King is the acknowledged Faith both of Jews and of Christians. And the only difference betwixt them upon this Head is this, that the Jews imagine this Triumphant Appearance of the Messiah to be at the Time of his first coming upon Earth. But the Christians, as some of the most learned Jewish Rabbins already mentioned certainly did, suppose this Restoration of the Jews to be at the second Appearance of the Messiah; when, after his having been put to Death, he shall, at the appointed Time, that is after the Destruction of the Roman Empire, and the entire Overthrow of the City of Rome with all its vain Pomp and Pageantry, make a publick Manifestation of his Glory in the Clouds of Heaven attended with Saints and Angels. At which Time he will for the Conviction of Mankind thence descend upon Earth, and shew himself to Men at Jerusalem and Mount Zion, though not as an earthly Monarch attended with Guards, but as an Heavenly Prince attended by Angels: The Report whereof being spread to all Corners of the World will excite the Curiosity of all those who expect Salvation in Israel, and especially of the Jews, to repair to the Land of Canaan to see this wonderful Appearance: and then shall ten Men of all Nations Nations, among which they inhabited lay hold of the Skirt of him that is a Jew, saying, we will go with you, for we have heard that God is with you.

Jews

Which is all manifestly alluded to in the Prophecy of the Prophet Daniel, under the Emblem of a Stone that was cut out of a Mountain without Hands, which smote the Image upon his Feet, which were of Iron and Clay, that is, the Roman Empire, and brake them to Pieces. Which Stone the Prophet explains to represent a Kingdom that the God of Heaven shall set up, which shall never be destroyed; nor shall be left to other People; that is, in which there shall be no Succession of Princes, For this Kingdom shall be given to * one like the Son of Man, who shall come in the Clouds of Heaven, and to him shall be given Dominion and Glory, and a Kingdom, that all People and Nations and Languages should serve him: Whose Dominion is an everlasting Dominion which shall not pass away, and his Kingdom

* Dan. vii. 13, 14, 27.
Kingdom that which shall not be destroyed. And the Kingdom, and Dominion, and Greatness of the Kingdom under the whole Heaven shall be given to the People of the Saints of the most high, and all Dominions shall serve and obey him, whose Kingdom is an everlasting Kingdom.

Now as it is manifest that this Dominion is to be given to one like the Son of Man, who shall come in the Clouds of Heaven, and that all People and Nations, and Languages shall serve him. Therefore it follows, that this Son of Man must first have died, before he can thus appear in the Clouds of Heaven, and that his Kingdom is not confined to the Seed of Abraham, but that all People and Nations, and Languages, will be equally received as the Members of it.

It likewise further appears that this is to be a spiritual Kingdom, the Happiness of which will consist in Righteousness and Peace, and such other Joys as may arise from the restraining, rather than indulging, our Passions. And although it may be allowed that those happy Mortals who are alive alive at that Period of Time, may be pleased and delighted with all those earthly Enjoyments which are consistent with a Life of Purity and Holiness; Yet it seems inconsistent with the Happiness either of the Messiah, or of Abraham or Isaac, or Jacob, or any of the rest of those blessed Spirits, which attend him in this his triumphant Appearance, to imagine them capable of relishing, or being delighted with any of the Enjoyments which this World can afford; further than their being delighted with seeing and contributing to the Happiness of those Persons who being then alive, shall be converted to, or established in the Acknowledgment of this their Messiah, and shall by living agreeably to the Laws of his Kingdom, enjoy all the Happiness that a Life of Righteousness, in the midst of Peace and Plenty can produce upon Earth.

It ought likewise to be further considered, that although the Time of the Messiah's coming, is spoken of in the Books of Moses, and by the Prophets Haggai, Malachi and Daniel, as being before the Sceptre shall shall depart from Judah, and before the Destruction of the second Temple, yet the Time of his Appearance in a triumphant State, when the final Restauration of the Jews is to take Place, is always spoken of as being at a great distance of Time, in the latter Times, and in the last Days: And as succeeding after a second and much severer Dispersion and Distress, than what the Jews suffered at Babylon, or at any Time before the Destruction of the second Temple. For thus saith the Prophet Ezekiel xxxviii. 8. After many Days thou shalt be visited, in the latter Years, thou shalt come into the Land, that is brought back from the Sword, and that is gathered out of many People, against the Mountains of Israel which have been long waste. And the Prophet Isaiah ii. 2. faith, It shall come to pass in the last Days, that the Mountain of the Lord's House shall be established in the Top of the Mountains, and shall be exalted above the Hills; and all Nations shall flow to it. And in another Place he declares that this Event of the exaltation of the Root of Jejse shall not come to pass till after a second Restoration of the Jews, from a much more violent and general Dispersion than that of Babylon. For, faith he, Isai. xi. 10, 12. And it shall come to pass in that Day the Lord shall set his Hand again a second Time to recover the Remnant of his People, which shall be left, from Assyria, and from Egypt, and from Pathros, and from Cush, and from Elam, and from Shinar, and from Hamath, and from the Islands of the Sea. And he shall set up an Ensign for the Nations, and shall assemble the Outcasts of Israel, and gather together the Outcasts of Judah, from the four Corners of the Earth. And the Prophets * Isaiah and Micah say, † But in the last Days it shall come to pass that the Mountain of the House of the Lord, shall be established in the Top of the Mountains, and it shall be exalted above the Hills, and all People shall flow unto it; and many Nations shall come and say, let us go up to the Mountain of the Lord, Lord, and to the House of the God of Jacob, he will teach us his Ways, and we will walk in his Paths; for the Law shall go forth out of Zion, and the Word of the Lord from Jerusalem. And faith the Prophet * Jeremiah, Therefore behold the Day is come, faith the Lord, that it shall no more he said the Lord liveth that brought up the Children of Israel out of the Land of Egypt; but the Lord liveth that brought up the Children of Israel from the Land of the North, and from all Lands whither he had driven them; and I will bring them again into their own Land, that I gave unto their Fathers. Behold I will send for many Fishers, faith the Lord, and they shall fish them, and after I will send for many Hunters and they shall hunt them, from every Hill, and out of the Holes of the Rooks; But first I will recom-pence their Iniquity and their Sins double.

Now notwithstanding all this, such is the Bias of human Nature in Favour of those

* Jerem. xvi. 14, 18.
Sentiments that are pleasing and agreeable to us, that the Bulk of the Nation of the Jews, though they are very assiduous in searching the Scriptures with Regard to the Messiah; yet are their Eyes blinded whenever they come to those Passages which described the Messiah, even at the Time of his first Appearance, in a State of Abasement, and Humiliation; but are as clear lighted as a Lynx when they came to those Passages which described him under the pleasing Character of a triumphant Messiah, of a Prince of the House of David, surrounded as they imagine, with worldly Pomp and Grandeur, restoring the Sceptre to Israel, and subduing all the Nations of the Earth, as Vassals and Slaves to his Dominion and his Empire.

But alas! How poor, how low in reality is such a Thought? How ill becoming the Dignity of the Messiah? Those that expect a Messiah or Redeemer, but imagine him to be a great worldly Monarch, who should procure his Subjects many temporal Advan-
Advantages and Privileges, know not wherein the Misery or the Happiness of human Nature and immortal Souls properly consists, or else they could not form such wrong Notions. A powerful King and victorious Heroe may establish great Empires; and in proportion to the Capacity of his Understanding, may introduce many good Laws, and Regulations, for the outward Prosperity of his Subjects; but to make a solid Reformation in the Hearts, Lives and Manners of his People, he sometimes has not the Will, and infinitely more often wants the Power. Many of the Assyrian, Persian, Grecian and Roman Monarchs have subdued and ruled over the best Part of the World, but the Bodies of the conquered Nations are become Sacrifices either to Death or Slavery, and their Souls they left as miserable and unreformed as they found them. And shall our Messiah be only such an Anointed one as Nebucadnezzar, or Cyrus, or Alexander, or Caesar? Far be such a Thought from our Minds. What is there there in worldly Grandeur that is worthy of his Pursuit? Or what is there in worldly Grandeur that is worthy of our own Sollicitude? Do we find that the greatest Heroes have either been the best or the happiest of Men? No! but rather the Contrary.

Let us look into the Promise made unto Abraham, when * the Lord said * shall I hide from Abraham that thing which I do, seeing that Abraham shall surely become a great Nation, and all the Nations of the Earth shall be blessed in him? Was this designed as a Blessing or a Curse? Surely as a Blessing, because the Almighty adds,

For I know that he will command his Children, and his Household after him, and they shall keep the Way of the Lord, to do Justice and Judgement, that the Lord may bring upon Abraham that which he hath spoken of him.

And now let us enquire how this Blessing hath been fulfilled. Not long after the Death of Abraham, his seed were sent into Egypt, to remain in slavery till 430 Years

* Gen. xviii. 17, 19.
Years were expired; from whence they were at length delivered; and were conducted into Canaan, after wandering 40 Years more in the Wilderness of Sinai. And when they were arrived in the Land of Canaan, yet the Inhabitants of the Land which remained unconquered, were Pricks in their Eyes, and Thorns in their Sides: And continued to be Snares and Traps unto them, and Scourges in their Sides, and Thorns in their Eyes until they perished off that good Land, which the Lord had given them. And in the Days of their Glory, even when Solomon was King, what was the Extent of his Kingdom? Not the Size of a Roman Province. Not the hundred Part of what is now possessed by the Successors of Mahomed. And immediately after the Death of Solomon, ten of the twelve Tribes withdrew their Allegiance from his Offspring, and not long after that were sent Captives into Media, whence they have never yet returned; and the remaining two Tribes have been been driven out of the Land of Canaan about 1700 Years ago, and remain as Pilgrims and Strangers over the Face of the whole Earth. And can any Worldly Grandeur that is to happen in the Process of Time, to any of the future Progeny of Abraham, make what hath hither to passed, a Blessing to Abraham and his Seed? can it make an Amends to those who are in the Grave? Or can the Conquest of the whole World by one of the Seed of Abraham, and the Subduing of all Nations under the Dominion of Zion, be any great Blessing to those Nations, if they are to reap no Benefits thereby but being in Subjection to the Jews?

Whereas if we consider that the Reason, why God was pleased to distinguish Abraham, was, because he knew that he would command his Children and his Household after him, to keep the Way of the Lord to do Justice and Judgement; So we may conclude from thence, that the Reformation of Mankind; the teaching of them to do Justice and Judgement; and to do the will of God in this World, as it is done in Heaven
Heaven, and thereby preparing them for a State of Bliss and Happiness in another World; the setting them an Example in his own Person, of the little Value which ought to be put upon the glittering Follies and the pompous Parade of this Life; and lastly, in order to defeat the Designs of Satan, the suffering of Persecution, and Scourging, and Death, that by his Wounds they may be healed, and that on him may be laid the Iniquities of us all; is an Employment worthy the Messiah.

And when this is done, and the Time shall be fulfilled when the wrath of God is appeased for the Indignities offered this his faithfull Messenger of the Covenant; Then for this Messiah, by a second Coming, to manifest his Conquest over that old Serpent the Devil which beguiled our first Parents, by opening the Gates of Death, which have hitherto been fast Sealed, so that no Man cometh again; and after a Triumphant Appearance in the Clouds of Heaven attended by Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the Saints, which have died in Expectation of this Redemption; to descend descend from thence upon Earth, and shew himself to Men, in order to convince all Mankind, whether Jews or Gentiles, of his being their Messiah, may be Actions worthy that Person, whom God hath been pleased to dignify with the Appellation of * his Son.

And in order to accomplish this, there is no Necessity that the Person who does it, should be a Worldly King, and a Conqueror, but rather the Contrary.

The Messiah therefore, who was not sent upon his own Account, to enjoy the things of this Life, is described as coming, not in such a Station or Condition of Life, as should furnish him with the Opportunity of enjoying the Prosperity and Grandeur of this World; for he despiseth it, and is therefore to be despised of it; but he is to come to bring glad Tidings to Zion, that all the Ends of the Earth might see the Salvation of God. And though he shall be exalted and be very high in the Kingdom appointed for him by his God and and our God; yet here in this World at his first coming, he hath no Form nor Comeliness, no Beauty that we should desire him. A Man of Sorrows and acquainted with Grief, Stricken of God and afflicted; and cut off out of the Land of the living for the Transgression of the People.

Here is an Image of Godlike Virtue, of Meekness, and unbounded Benevolence; an Image that might make an Impression upon such as are like-minded; on such as by raising their Thoughts above this World can look down upon it, and all its transitory, short, surfeiting Enjoyments with Pity and Contempt. While on the contrary they whose Minds are set upon the Pleasures of this Life, who are intoxicated with Pride, or Luxury, or Ambition, can form to themselves no Notion of any Messiah, but of one that cometh attended with Conquest and Triumph, and all the guilded Pageantry of worldly Pomp and Grandeur.

And yet it was this, in all human Probability, which prevented your Ancestors from acknowledging this Messiah, this humble, this meek, this despised and rejected jected Messiah, when he appeared amongst them. Their Minds were set upon a triumphant Messiah, their Expectations were raised with the Thoughts of worldly Grandeur; their Eyes were lifted high to look for some stately Cedar, while with their Feet they trampled on this humble Plant. Not that he will not Triumph! But it shall not be with worldly Pomp and Parade. Not that he will not be exalted, and extolled, and be very high! For he will be higher than the Kings of the Earth. But his Exaltation will be in Heaven, where Exaltation is worth striving for, and where according to the holy * David, because he loved Righteousness, and hated Iniquity, God, even his God, hath anointed him with the Oyl of Gladness above his Fellows. And it was for this very Reason that God hath exalted him, because he was humble, and lowly, and meek, was tormented for our Transgressions, bruited for our Iniquities, and was cut off out of the Land of of the living for the Transgression of the People. And in this exalted State he shall appear again upon Earth, and shew himself in the fullness of Time to those who are then alive, for their Conviction and Conversion; attended, not like a worldly Monarch, with Guards and Troops of armed Men, but with Saints and Angels, and the Souls of just Men made perfect. And his Appearance shall be at Jerusalem and on Mount Sion; * At which Time according to the Prophet Jeremiah, they shall call Jerusalem the Throne of the Lord, and all Nations shall be gathered unto it. In those Days the House of Judah shall walk with the House of Israel, and they shall come together out of the Land of the North to their own Land. For says the Prophet Isaiah, † The Lord shall comfort Zion, he will comfort all her waste Places; he will make her Wilderness like Eden, and her Desert like the Garden of the Lord: Joy and Gladness shall be found therein.

* Jer. iii. 17, 18. † Isa. li. 3. and compare with Ezek. xxxvi. 22.
Thanksgiving and the Voice of Melody.

And again God saith, * It shall be to me a Name of Joy, a Praise, and an Honour before all the Nations of the Earth, which shall hear all the Good that I do unto them, and they shall fear and tremble for all the Goodness, and for all the Prosperity that I procure unto it. Thus saith the Lord, again there shall be heard in the Cities of Judah, and in the Streets of Jerusalem, the Voice of Joy, and the Voice of Gladness, the Voice of the Bridegroom, and the Voice of the Bride, the Voice of them that shall say, Praise the Lord of Hosts, for the Lord is good and his Mercy endureth forever.

But they who would see this Day must first acknowledge him as their Messiah in his depressed State; they who would reign with him in Glory, must also share with him in his Humility; they who would partake with him in his State of Exaltation, must first lift under his Banner in his State of Abasement.

It seems therefore a Matter of the greatest Consequence to all Mankind, whether

* Jerem. xxxiii. 9, 11.
whether Jew or Gentile, to be as well informed as they possibly can of the Time affixed for the coming of the Messiah: That they may be certified whether he is yet come or not, either in his State of Abasement or Exaltation; that, if he be come, they may acknowledge him, and not be ejected out of his Kingdom, when he shall appear in his triumphant State, because they were too proud in Heart to acknowledge him in his State of Humiliation; wherefore I shall endeavour to lay this before you in as an impartial a Light as I am capable of.

In doing of which I shall, in order to avoid Confusion, first enquire into those Texts of Scripture, which may inform us concerning the Time of the Coming of this Messiah; whence we may be enabled to Judge whether he is yet come or not: And if he be come, whether we have not Reason to expect a further and second Appearance of the Messiah upon Earth. For though I apprehend it to be contradictory to the whole Tenor of the Hebrew Bible to suppose two Messiahs, yet I think it will appear appear from many Texts of Scripture, that the Messiah must be already come; and as it is undoubted that many of the Prophecies concerning his Personal Appearance here upon Earth, are not yet fulfilled, it will as manifestly follow from thence, that his further Coming is still to be expected. I shall then in the last Place, endeavour to shew who this Person is, that is affirmed by the Christians to have already appeared under this Character of the Messiah; and shall assign my Reasons in Vindication of their Opinion.

Now if we consult those Texts of Scripture, which relate to the Time of the Messiah's Coming, we shall find, that the Messiah was to come before the Sceptre should depart from Judah; and before the second Temple of Jerusalem, which was built by Zorobabel, should be destroyed; both which Events having come to pass long ago, it is more than probable, that the first coming of the Messiah is long since past. As to the first of these, This I think will sufficiently appear from consulting the Prophecy of Jacob, when a little little before his Death, he gave his Blessing to his Sons, and among the rest to his Son Judah, out of whose Tribe by the Seed of David, it is sufficiently acknowledged by the Jews, that the Messiah is to come. For says he, *The Sceptre shall not depart from Judah, nor a Lawgiver from between his Feet, until Shiloh come; and to him shall the Gathering of the People be. Now as it is manifest, that the Sceptre, take it in what fence you will, whether it be the Sceptre of Government in Judah as a Tribe, or the Sceptre of the great Synagogue, or the Sceptre of the Shanedrim, which sate in Jerusalem, and within the limits of the Tribe of Judah, all which ceased much about the same Time; since I say it is manifest that this Sceptre hath long since departed from Judah, therefore it is reasonable to believe that Shiloh is come. And in Proof of this, I think I need only quote the Words of R. Rachman, who makes this remarkable Confession: "When our Sanhedrim went out of the Hall, where

* Gen. xlix. 10. § שָׁלוֹחַ.
“where they used to have their Meetings, and the Power of Judgment was taken from them, they put on hairy Garments, tore their Hair off their Heads and said; Woe unto us, The Sceptre is departed from Judah, and the Son of David is not come.”

But as it may very justly be demanded how it appears that the Messiah is here meant by this Shiloh, I think myself obliged to produce my Reasons for it; because I am not ignorant, that in order to avoid this Construction of the Word Shiloh, the Jews have interpreted this Text after many and various manners. My Reasons therefore are these, First, because it is acknowledged by the Jewish Rabbins that the Messiah, is to be born without an earthly Father. For thus you may find it in the Annotations of R. Moses Hadarson, on Psal. lxxxv. 11. Truth shall spring out of the Earth, and Righteousness shall look down from Heaven. Where he observes “That R. Joden says, That is our Salvation which shall Spring out of the Earth “by by the Interposition of God; and these two, that is Truth and Justice shall be joined together. And why does the Psalmist say, it shall spring out of the Earth, and not say it shall be born? Because its Birth and Generation shall not be like the Generation of worldly Creatures but shall be different from it, and be without a social Conjunction (i.e. of male and Female) and this just one shall be our Saviour whom God will send. Which is alluded to in the same Psal. v. 12. where it is said, yea the Lord shall give that which is good; and our Land shall yield her Increase. For it is manifest that no one knows, or can tell, what shall be the Name of his Father, until he himself shall come, and make it manifest unto us.

And again in his Annotations on Gen. xxxvii. 22. And Reuben said unto them, shed no Blood, but cast him into this Pit that is in the Wilderness, and lay no hand upon him. Thus, says he, it is also said in Job vi. 27. Yea ye overwhelm the Fatherless, and you dig a Pit for your Friend. Which is also alluded to Lament. v. 3. We are Orphans and Fatherless. Upon which R. Barachias remarks, that the holy and blessed God said to Israel, ye have complained unto me that ye are Orphans and Fatherless; So shall the Redeemer, which I will appoint, and raise up from among yourselves, be without a Father also.

As therefore, the Promise made to Eve that the Seed of the Woman should bruise the Serpent's Head, is acknowledged by the most ancient and learned Rabbins to refer to the Messiah, and as according to the aforementioned Traditions, the Messiah is to be born without an Earthly Father, He may very properly be denoted by the particular Characteristic of the Seed of the Woman. And as the Word Shil or Shilo in Hebrew literally signifies, the Secondina, or Tunicle, in which the Fetus is involved in the Mothers Womb, therefore this is a very proper Expression to denote the Offspring of a Virgin, which was to be produced without the help of Man; In the Incarnation of whose exalted Spirit, there is no more Mystery than in the Incarnation of the Spirit of the meanest Man alive; the Difficulty being to conceive, not how a Spirit of an exalted Nature, but how any Spirit at all can be united to Matter and made Man. And indeed it is very remarkable that there is no mention made in the Scriptures of the Father of the Messiah from the Time of David.

Secondly, it ought to be applied to the Messiah, because the following Words, and to him shall the Gathering of the People be, seems to appropriate it to him; as this is a very remarkable Part of the Character by which the Messiah is denoted in the Scriptures. For to this Purpose was the Original Promise made to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, that in their Seed should all the Nations of the Earth be blessed. And accordingly the Prophet * Isaiah, when speaking of the Messiah, faith, He will lift up an Ensign to the Nations from far, and call unto them from the Ends

* Isaiah 26. xi. 10, 12.
Ends of the Earth. And in another Place he saith, And in that Day there shall be a Root of Jesse, which shall stand for an Ensign to the People, and to it shall the Gentiles Seek. And again, And he shall set up an Ensign for the Nations, and shall assemble the outcasts of Israel, and gather together the dispersed of Judah, from the four Corners of the Earth. With numberless other Places to the same Purpose; all which amount to just the same thing, with that which is here predicted of Shiloh by Jacob, that to him, or under his Ensign, shall the Gathering of the People be.

And lastly we apply this Word Shiloh to the Messiah, because it hath been already applied so, by the most ancient and learned Rabbins among the Jews.

For thus we find this verse interpreted in the Jerusalem Targum, as well as in the Targums of Jonathan B. Uziel, and of Onkelos, than which there is not better Authority among any of the Jewish writers. The Jerusalem Targum renders it thus. * There shall not be wanting Kings of the House of Judah, nor skillful Doctors of the Law from among his Sons Sons, until the Time that the King Messiah cometh, whose is the Kingdom, and to him at length shall all the Kings of the Earth be subject.

§ The Targum of Jonathan renders it thus. There shall not fail to be Kings and Presidents of the House of Judah, nor Scribes teaching the Law out of his Seed, until the Time that the King Messiah, who is the younger of his Sons, cometh; and for him shall the People melt, or pine.

|| The Targum of Onkelos, renders it thus. Their shall not be removed a Prince from
from the House of Judah, nor a Scribe from his Sons, until the Time when the Messiah cometh, to whom appertaineth the Kingdom, and him shall the People obey.

Which is also the Opinion of several others Jewish Rabbins, for to the same Purpose you may find this very Text explained in Bereishith Ketenna. And in Bereishith Rabba, this Text is explained thus. "The Sceptre shall not depart, &c. that is till the King Messiah comes who is to break the Kingdoms with a Rod, as it is said in Psal. ii. 9. Thou shalt break them with a Rod of Iron, thou shalt dash them in Pieces like a Potters Vessel. Then follows, "Nor a Law-Giver from between his Feet. This also alludes to Messiah the King, who shall come to tread them under his Feet. As it is said by the Prophet, Isai. xxvi. 6. The Foot shall tread it down, even the Foot of the Poor. Because that Messiah of whom these things are spoken shall be Poor, according to the Prophesey of the Prophet Zechar. ix. 9. Where "he says, Behold thy King cometh unto thee: He is just, and, having Salvation, lowly, and riding upon an Ass. And upon the Words until Shilo comes, the same Commentator positively says, that is the Messiah. And in the Jewish German Translation of the Hebrew Bible, which is made and approved of by their ablest Masters, they have likewise translated the Word Shiloh by the King Messiah, but have interpreted the Hebrew Particles when, which is against the Nature and Signification of the Hebrew Language, never in the Hebrew Bible being used for when, but signifying always until: In which Sense it is manifest that all the Chaldee Paraphraets before quoted undoubtedly understood it; because they expressly render it by או-יו or לע-לאה which cannot otherwise be render'd than to the Age or to the Time, and not from the Age or from the Time when the Messiah cometh.

But it is further also manifest that the Messiah is already come, not only because the Sceptre hath manifestly departed from Judah, but also because it is predicted of him him that he should come in about 490 Years after the first Temple was ordered to be rebuilt, and before the Destruction of the second Temple which was erected in the Place thereof. For says the Prophet Daniel, * Seventy Weeks are determined upon the People, and upon thy holy City, to finish the Transgression, and to make an End of Sins, and to make Reconciliation for Iniquity, and to bring in everlasting Righteousness, and to seal up the Vision and Prophecy, and to anoint the most holy. Know therefore and understand, that from the going forth of the Commandment to restore and rebuild Jerusalem, unto Messiah the Prince, shall be seven Weeks, and threescore and two Weeks, the Street shall be built again, and the Wall in troublous Times. And after threescore and two Weeks shall Messiah be cut off, but not for himself. And the People of the Prince that shall come, shall destroy the City and Sanctuary, and the End thereof shall be with a Flood, and unto the End of

* Dan. ix. 24, 27.
of the War Desolations are determined, (and he shall confirm the Covenant with many for one Week; and in the midst of the Week he shall cause the Sacrifice and the Oblation to cease, and for the over-spreading of Abomination, he shall make it desolate) even until the Consummation; and that determined shall be poured on the desolate.

Some eminent Rabbins allow that this Prophecy of Daniel points to the Messiah:
Abarbanel in his Book * Majene Jesseba in the Explanation of the Words 'To anoint the most Holy' says, The most Holy signifies, either the Holy Place in the Temple, or the Messiah our Righteousness, who is called the most Holy because he is better and holier than all the People of Israel to-ther. To the same Purpose is the Testimony of R, Asariah in his Book § Meor Enaim where instead of the Words to bring in everlasting Righteousness, he says, 'to bring in the Messiah our Righteousness. R, Saadias and Aben Esra in their Explicatios

* Fol. lxiv, Col. i. ii.  § Fol. cxx. Edin. Mark.
ones on this Place likewise insist upon it that the 70 Weeks signify 490 Years.

And indeed this Prophecy of Daniel agrees so exactly with the Description of the Messiah as given us in his State of Humiliation by the Prophet * Isaiah, and points out so precisely the Time of his being cut off, that is, before the Destruction of the second Temple, which lasted about 490 Years or seventy Weeks of Years, from the Time that the Commandment went forth to rebuild it; that some Jews who are unwilling to acknowledge a suffering Messiah as well as a triumphant one, or that he is already come in the Flesh; have made it an Objection, in order to invalidate the Force of this Testimony, that in their Bible Daniel is not plac'd among the Prophets, but only among the Hagiographa.

It may therefore not be improper, before we proceed further, to enquire into the Authority upon which the acknowledgment of the Authenticity of the Prophecies of Daniel, and particularly of this Prophecy

* Isai. liii.
Prophecy which I have now quoted, is founded. Of which we cannot have better Evidence than from the Testimony of the Jewish Historian Josephus, who lived at the Time of the Destruction of Jerusalem by Titus Vespasian; who quotes the Prophecies of Daniel as written by a Person divinely inspired; and refers his Reader to them, as being at that Time a part of the Canon of the Jewish Scriptures. For says he, * He will find them in the sacred Writings. And in the following Chapter, where Josephus is giving an Abstract of the Prophecies of Daniel, he commends his Writings, which were much read among the Jews, and says:

"But it is fit to give an Account of what this Man did, which it is most admirable to hear. For he was so happy, as to have strange Revelations made to him, and those as to one of the greatest of the Prophets. Insomuch that while he was alive, he had the Esteem and Applause both of the Kings and of the Multitude;

and now he is dead he retains a Remembronçe that will never fail. For the several Books that he wrote, and left behind him, are still read by us, till this Time. And from them we believe that Daniel conversed with God. For he did not only prophesy future Events, as did the other Prophets; but he also determined the Time of their Accomplishment. And then recapitulating the Purport of Daniel's Prophesies with regard to those things which happened to the Nation of the Jews under Antiochus Epi-phanes as contained in the eighth chapter of Daniel, he faith. “And indeed it came to pass, that our Nation suffered these Things under Antiochus Epiph-anes, according to Daniel's Vision, which he wrote many Years before they came to pass. In the very same Manner Daniel also wrote concerning the Roman Go-government; and that our Country should be made desolate by them, alluding thereby to the forementioned Prophecy, which I have quoted out of the Ninth Chapter of Daniel: And then he adds,

All these Things did this Man leave in Writing, as God had shewed them to him. Insomuch that such as read his Prophecies, and see how they have been fulfilled, would wonder at the Honour wherewith God honoured Daniel.

Here then is an incontestable Proof of the acknowledgement of the Divine Inspiration of Daniel, by one of the most learned Persons of the Jewish Nation, who declares himself convinced of the Truth of that Prophetical Spirit with which he was inspired by the wonderful Accomplishment of his Prophecies; and particularly appeals to that Prophecy which I have quoted, as having been fulfilled in the Destruction of the Temple and City of Jerusalem by Titus: It being after the Destruction of Jerusalem, that he wrote his History, as appears from his own Words, in that Part of his Works wherein he wrote an Account of his own Life.

Hence

† Jos. vit. Sept. lxv. In this History Josephus also speaks honourably of Jesus, and it is asserted by some that he died a Christian. See Whiston's Dissert. on...
Hence also appears what was the Opinion of Josephus with Regard to the Interpretation of this Prophecy. As if, that he looked upon the 70 Weeks Prophesied of by Daniel to have been some Time expired: and secondly that by the Expression of the People of the Prince that should come, he understood the Roman Army. And therefore, though he was unwilling to speak out, as being a Cautious Writer, and very wary in not offending either the Jews or the Romans, yet since it is plain that this part of that Prophecy was fulfilled, it must appear as plain to any one else who consults the Words of the Prophecy, that the Messiah, according to the Remainder of the Prophecy, was to have been cut off before the Prince of the People, or the Roman Army, should come to destroy the City and the Sanctuary.

Now if the Jews will but consult their own Copies of the Hebrew Bible they will find there were four Commandments issued out to restore and rebuild Jerusalem, by by Cyrus, another by Darius, the third by Artaxerxes Longimimus, in the seventh Year of his Reign, and the fourth by the same Prince in the twentieth Year of his Reign. And let us take which of these they please, and suppose these Weeks, instead of Weeks of Days, to denote, according to the Explanation of the Prophet § Ezekiel, Weeks of Years; and it is manifest that the Messiah must be long since come. So that there is no need of a critical Enquiry into every minute Circumstance of this Prophecy to shew that the Messiah should be already come.

But it is not only manifest from this Prophecy of Daniel, but also from the Prophets Haggai and Malachi that the Messiah was to come before the Destruction of the Temple of Jerusalem by Titus. For thus saith the Prophet Haggai, when Speaking of this second Temple that was Built by Zorobabel; || Who is left among you, that saw this House in her first Glory? And how do you see it now? Is it not in your Eyes

Eyes in Comparison of it as Nothing?
Let now be Strong, O Zerubabel, faith the Lord, and be Strong O Joshua the Son of Josedec, the High Priest, and be Strong ye People of the Land, faith the Lord, and work: For I am with you faith the Lord of Hosts, according to the Word that I covenanted with you when you came out of Egypt, so my Spirit remaineth among you; fear ye not. For thus faith the Lord of Hosts, yet once, it is a little while, and I will shake the Heavens, and the Earth, the Sea, and the dry Land: And I will shake all Nations, and the Desire of all Nations shall come, and I will fill this House with Glory, faith the Lord of Hosts. The Silver is mine, and the Gold is mine, faith the Lord of Hosts. The Glory of this latter House shall be greater than the former, faith the Lord of Hosts; and in this Place will I give Peace faith the Lord.

which Text though the modern Jews endeavour to apply otherwise, yet it is plain that some of the most learned of the Jews Jews quoted in the Talmud applied it to the Days of the Messiah; for thus you will clearly find it asserted under the Title Shanedrim Section Helec, where R. Akiba is said to have expounded these Words yet a little while and I will shake the Heavens and the Earth, of the Days of Messiah the King, and of the Time that was to succeed between the Destruction of the first Temple, and the coming of the Messiah.

For if this House which was built by Zerubabel, which, with regard to the Materials and outward Ornaments that composed it, with regard to the Silver and Gold expended on it, was as Nothing in Comparison to the former House; and which according to the Conceptions of the Jews themselves, wanted five honourable Marks of the divine Favour, which were in the first Temple; viz. The Ark of the Testimony, the Holy Fire, the Holy Oil, and the Urim and Thummim; If this House, I say, was yet to exceed the former House in Glory, to what can the preferable Excellency of this latter House be be attributed, but to this, that the Desire of all Nations was to fill it with Glory? And if no better Reason can be assigned, does not this prove to a Demonstration that the Desire of all Nations, that is, the Messiah in whom they are all to be blessed, should come before the Destruction of this second Temple?

And accordingly the Prophet * Malachi, who was the last Prophet that was sent to the Jews, when speaking of this second Temple, declares in the Name of God, saying, Behold I will send my Messenger, and he shall prepare the Way before me, and the Lord whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his Temple; even the Messenger of the Covenant whom ye delight in: Behold he shall come faith the Lord of Hosts. Which Passage of Scripture is by R. Moses Maimonides in his Hilcoth Melachim positively applied to the Messiah. Where he Says that * in the Days of Messiah the King the Genealogy of Israel shall be revealed at his Mouth by the holy Spirit that shall rest upon him, as it is laid in Malachi. iii. Behold * R. M. ii. i

* Mal. civ. i
I will send my Messenger and he shall prepare the way before me. R. Kimchi in his Comment upon this Passage Says also, This Lord whom ye seek, is the King Messiah, and he is also the Angel of the Covenant.

Whereas if the Messenger or Angel of the Covenant made with Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and David, was to come to this Temple, his coming must certainly have been before that Temple was destroyed. Which is still further confirmed by a Tradition mentioned in the Talmud which I have before quoted in my first Letter: Where it is said that this World is to last 6000 Years which are subdivided into three Periods, two thousand of which are reckoned the Days of Inanity or Emptiness, two thousand the Days of the Law, and two thousand the Days of the Messiah. Whence it appears that the Messiah ought to have come when this World was about four thousand Years old; and about which Time it is certain that the second Temple was destroyed; the Jews driven out of Judea, dispersed over the Face of the whole Earth, and thereby.
End put to the Possibility of their Compliance with the ceremonial Parts of the Law of Moses. All which Considerations when put together seem to have extorted the Concession of some of the eminent Rabbins in the Talmud; that the Messiah ought to have been come long ago. For thus you may find it mentioned under the Head Shanedrim that R. Raf hath said, all the appointed Times, i.e. for the coming of the Messiah, are at an End. Upon which Account it probably is that the Modern Rabbins discourage all Enquiries into the Scriptures in Relation to the Time of the Coming of the Messiah, and answer those that are inquisitive about it, with telling them it is a secret, or hidden, Thing.

And here I cannot but remark that it hath been often observed of the Papists, that, in their Disputes with the Protestants, they are apt to make Objections against Quotations out of the Scriptures, under Pretence of their Obscurity. And why is this? But because the Scriptures make against them. And may we not suppose that it is for the same Reason, that the modern Rabbins... bins discourage all Enquiries into the Scriptures concerning the Times predicted for the coming of the Messiah, and answer the Enquirers with Satham hu? I leave the Reply to the Dictates of your own Conscience.

I beseech you therefore Sir, to consider that, when the first Temple, which was built by Solomon was destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar, and it pleased God to visit the Jews with a Captivity of seventy Years duration, the Reason assigned for it is this; * All the Cities of the Priests, and the People transgressed very much, after all the Abomination of the Heathen, and polluted the House of the Lord, which he had hallowed in Jerusalem. And the Lord God sent to them by the Hands of his Messengers, rising up by Times and sending; because he had Compassion on his People, and on his Dwelling Place, but they mocked the Messengers of God, and despised his Words, and misused his Prophets, PBETS, until the Wrath of the Lord arose against his People, and there was no Healing, &c.

Where it may be observed that here are two Reasons assigned for God's displeasure against the Jews at that Time, and that is, First, their having transgressed after the Abomination of the Heathen; and Secondly, their having mocked the Messengers of God, and despised his Words, and misused his Prophets. Whereas the Jews as they are far from being Idolaters at present, or from giving any Encouragement, or even Countenance, to Idolatry: So were they at the Time of the Destruction of the Second Temple by Titus, very far from Transgressing after the Abomination of the Heathen. What Reason then can be assigned why their present Desolation should be so much more grievous than their former one; even a Desolation that hath already continued above seventeen hundred Years, but this? That they mocked the Messenger of God, even the Messenger of the Covenant, a Messenger of more eminent Note than any which had been sent to to them under the first Covenant; and therefore their Punishment is so much the more grievous.

For let us suppose this Messenger was the Messiah; if then this Prophet was misused, was despised and rejected, and cut off out of the Land, by your Ancestors, because he did not appear in the Form of a triumphant Prince and a Conqueror, in all the Pomp which worldly-minded Persons had painted him in agreeably to their own Imaginations; and then I beseech you 0 ye Sons of Israel to consider, whether your long, whether your tedious Desolation is not to be accounted for?

This is a Subject I do not care to dwell upon, my Desire being to convince not to irritate; let us however consider that if these Things be evident, if these Quotations which I have produced out of the Scriptures and out of the Comments of the most learned Jews thereon, as well as out of the Talmud, be true; whether it doth not rest upon the Jews to shew that the Messiah is already come according to the Time fixed by those Prophecies; least the Sons Sons of Philistia should triumph, and the Unbelievers in Revelation should say, that the Scriptures of the Hebrew Bible have no Truth in them?

Nothing I think can be more plain than that the Scriptures have declared, that the Messiah shall appear before the Sceptre should depart from Judah, as well as before the destruction of the second Temple: But the Sceptre hath manifestly departed long since from Judah; and the second Temple hath been destroyed above 1700 Years ago, and if no Messiah hath yet appeared, either in a State of Triumph, or of Mortification, how is the Veracity of those Prophecies to be vindicated?

I am very sensible that it is said in Answer thereto by some of the modern Jews, that the Promises made in those Scriptures were only conditional, and that God on account of the Wickedness of the Jews hath put off, and postponed the Time of sending the Messiah, and deferred it to a further Season; so that although he hath *Visited their their Transgressions with a Rod: Nevertheless that he will not utterly take his Mercy from them, nor suffer his Faithfulness to lie; but will in the End most assuredly establish the Covenant which he made unto David.

Which Supposition, of God's postponing the Time of sending the Messiah, might possibly have had some Force, had it not been attended with two very unfortunate Circumstances. One of which is, that the Matter of Fact on which it is founded is not true; and the other is, that if it was true the Consequence here deduced from that Matter of Fact would not follow.

As to the Matter of Fact, that the Jews were so much more wicked at or about the Time, when Judæa was reduced into the form of a Roman Province, that is, when the Sceptre departed from Judah, than they had been formerly, that God upon that account might have postponed sending the Messiah, this I say is not true. Because it appears from the whole History of the Hebrew Bible, that those Wickednesses for which the Wrath of God was incensed incensed against the Jews as a Nation, were their Idolatry, and the ill Treatment which the Prophets whom God sent to reclaim them from thence, met with at their Hands: Whereas the Jewish Church was never purer than at the Time of the Maccabees; and for some Time before the Reduction of Judæa into the Form of a Roman Province, the Jews were no more given to Idolatry, than they are at present; but on the contrary were so averse to any thing of that Kind, that when * Herod the great for the Entertainment of Caesar had instituted some Sports, and built a Theatre, he had like to have occasioned a Rebellion only by having some Ornaments erected, which looked like the Images of Men. And as to their Behaviour with Regard to their Prophets, it is manifest that after the Death of Malachi, they had no Opportunity of using them ill, he being the last Prophet which the present Jews will acknowledge to have been in Israel; and therefore the Matter of Fact itself, of the great Wickedness of the Jews at that Time, is not true.

But if it had, the Consequence to be deduced from thence would not have followed: Because that this was not the kind of Rod with which God would have visited their Transgressions, nor the kind of Stripes with which he would have visited their Iniquities; since it is manifest that the Messiah was not sent for the sake of the Jews only, but also for the sake of the Gentiles; and therefore if the Wickedness of the Jews had been extraordinary, this ought rather to have promoted than retarded his coming: Since the chief End for which the Messiah was sent was to instruct Mankind in their Duty, to speak the Words which the Lord should command him; to teach us his Ways, and publish the Law from Zion, and the Word of the Lord from Jerusalem; to make an Offering for Sin, and to bear our Iniquities. And therefore the more wicked the Jews were, the more Reason there was for the

the coming of the Messiah. But as the benefit of his coming was not confined to the Jews, but was designed also to extend to the Gentiles, that all the Nations of the Earth might be blessed in him; The Wickedness of the Jews is therefore a further Reason, why God should have expedited rather than delayed this extraordinary Blessing, that was designed for the Gentiles.

And in this Sentiment I am supported by the Declarations of some of the ancient Jewish Rabbins, whose Authority ought certainly to outweigh any of the latter Rabbins, as being undoubtedly the more impartial of the two; For among them it is a general Rule, that in the Promises of Good, as this of sending the Messiah, God always abides by his Promises: But in his Denunciations of Evil, if Men repent, he is not so strict, but is frequently pleased to defer the Punishment. It is accordingly said in the Talmud, that the coming of the Messiah might be accelerated, but could not be retarded. And to this Purpose you will find it positively asserted under the Title Title Shamadrim Section Helee, where R. Alexander faith, that R. Joshua the Son of Levi, upon those Words of the Prophet Isaiah lx. 22. I the Lord will hasten it in its Time, made this Remark; I will hasten it, that is, if they deserve it; but if they do not deserve it, I will do it in its Time. And to the same Purpose are the Observations in the Gloss on that very Text of Isa. lx. 22. So that those Persons, who are not convinced of the divine Authority of those Revelations which are recorded in the Jewish Scriptures, must look upon this Supposition of the coming of the Messiah being delayed on Account of the Sins of the Jews, as an Evasion rather than an Answer.

If therefore the Jews will not engage in this undertaking of defending the Veracity of the Scriptures of the Hebrew Bible, and of shewing that the Prophecies contained therein, have been truly and exactly fulfilled according to the determined Times, and suitable to the manner in which they were foretold, I think I must: For as the Structure of the Christian Faith is built built upon the Foundation of the Veracity of the Jewish Scriptures, it now therefore seems incumbent upon those, who call themselves Christians, to step forth into this Field of Battle, in order to defend their own System; and to shew that these Prophecies, relating to the Messiah, were not only fulfilled, but were actually fulfilled in the Person of Jesus, whom they assert to be the Messiah, and to have appeared in the World above 1700 Years ago, and to have been put to Death by the Jews before the Destruction of the Second Temple.

And I trust in God it will accordingly appear upon Examination, that this Jesus did answer all the Characteristicks, which are to be found either in the Scriptures, or even in the Talmud, concerning the Messiah in his State of Humiliation. For he came before the Sceptre departed from Judah, and about 490 Years after the Commandment to restore and rebuild Jerusalem, and before the Destruction of the Second Temple.

He
He had no earthly Father, being born of a Virgin without the Concurrence of Man; he performed Miracles; he published the Law, a new Law, from Zion, and the Word of the Lord from Jerusalem, not to the Jews only but also to the Gentiles; he was despised and rejected of Men; he was afflicted and oppressed, yet he opened not his Mouth; he was taken from Prison and from Judgement; and was cut off from the Land of the Living; not for himself, but for the Transgression of the People was he stricken, the Roman Governor that put him to Death at the earnest Solicitation of the Jews, having declared that he found in him no Fault at all.

Nor did Jesus only answer the Descriptions which are given of the Time of the coming of the Messiah, or of his Purport in coming to give a new Law, or of the manner of his Sufferings or Death in general; but many of the particular Incidents of his Life and Passion answer so minutely, and so circumstantially, to the Predictions, which are to be found written in the Law of Moses and the Prophets, and in the Psalms.
Psalms concerning the Messiah, that it is almost impossible to be deceived in them.

Thus when the Prophet Zechariah is speaking of the Messiah under the Character of a King, that shall enter into Zion; yet what sort of a King does he describe him to be? Not a triumphant, but a lowly one. For says he, † Rejoice greatly O Daughter of Zion, shout O Daughter of Jerusalem; behold thy King cometh unto thee: He is just, and having Salvation, lowly, and riding upon an Ass, and upon a Colt the Foal of an Ass. Now as this Event is recorded to have happened to Jesus, who is acknowledged both by Jews and Christians to have once entered into Jerusalem in this very manner; but which is not so much as mentioned ever to have happened to any other King, therefore it is to be supposed that Jesus is the particular Person here alluded to in this Prophecy; especially when we recollect that this same Jesus who entered into Jerusalem thus riding upon an Ass, and upon a Colt the Foal Foal of an Ass, was there Crucified with this particular Inscription written over him in Letters of Latin, and Greek, and Hebrew, *This is the King of the Jews. The particular manner of his Death was also foretold, for thus says the holy David, † They pierced my Hands and my Feet. Now as this never happened to David personally, the Application of this Saying, which was fulfilled in Jesus, must be understood of the Messiah, who is frequently alluded to by David under his own Name, and by the rest of the Prophets under the Name and Character of David. And what is remarkable is this, that this kind of Death; that is Crucifixion, which was inflicted upon Jesus, was not a Jewish but a Roman manner of Punishment. And hence it appears that the Sceptre was at that Time departed from Judah, and of Consequence that Shiloh, or the Messiah, ought according to the Prophecy of Jacob, to be already come.

It is likewise further to be observed that this Punishment of Piercing his Hands and his Feet, was not inflicted upon Jesus at his own Request, or at the Suit of his Friends, in order to have the Prophecy fulfilled, but was ordered by Pontius Pilate the Roman Governor, at the earnest Solicitation of the Jews who were the most bitter Enemies of Jesus.

Again the holy David says, *He keepeth all his Bones; not one of them is broken. Which was very remarkably fulfilled in Jesus, when we consider that the other two Persons, who were Crucified at the same Time with him, had their Bones broken in order to hasten their Death. And what is very particular in this Circumstance is, that this shews that Jesus was that great Sacrifice of which the Paschal Lamb was but a Type and a Figure: Nor can it otherwise be accounted for why Almighty God should be so particular and positive in giving this Direction to Moses:

* Psalm xxxiv, 20.
in preparing the Paschal Lamb, as to say, † Neither shall ye break a Bone thereof; unless it was thereby to point out the Messiah when he should be sent unto them.

And in another Place the Psalmist proceeding and speaking in the Spirit concerning the Messiah's faith, They part my Garments among them, and cast Lots upon my Vesture. Which Particularity, insignificant as it is, is yet of great Moment to shew that in the fulfilling of this Prophecy neither Jesus nor his Friends could have any share in the Contrivance, which was entirely owing to the Determination of the Roman Soldiery among themselves.

The Prophet Isaiah also when Speaking of the Messiah's faith, He made his Grave with the Wicked and with the Rich in his Death. Or to translate it literally, He gave the Wicked his Burial and with the Rich in his Deaths. So that if it be not allowed that, according to the first Method of translation, this Prophecy should allude to the Crucifixion of Jesus between two Thieves, and and thereby making his Grave with the Wicked: Yet it cannot be denied that the whole passage must allude to his being interred in the Vault belonging to Joseph of Arimathea, which was sealed up, and watched by Roman Soldiers, at the Request of those Jews, who had solicited his Crucifixion; by which Means he literally gave the Wicked his Burial with the rich at his Death.

But as it may be Objected that these Matters of Fact, which are Asserted of Jesus by the Christian Writers, are not true; it therefore rests upon the Christians to prove these Matters of Fact really to have been such as they are reported.

As to the Matter of Fact that there was such a Person as Jesus, who lived in Judaea not very long before the Destruction of the second Temple, who performed several Miracles, and was put to Death by the Jews for pretending to be the Messiah; this I say, there will be very little Occasion for my attempting to prove with Regard to the Jews; because it is acknowledged by the Jews themselves, not only in the Talmud mud, that there was such a Person about that Time; but also in a Treatise which is in repute among the Jews, and is entitled Sepher Toldoth Jesbu, that is, The Book of the Generation of Jesus, or the History of the Life of Jesus. Which Book was written expressly with a Design to villify his Character, and set forth the History of his Life and Actions in the most unfavourable Light that was possible.

Now in this Book it is nevertheless acknowledged that Jesus was born at Bethlehem; that he was born of a young Woman, whose Name was Mary, who was with Child of Jesus before ever she and her Husband, to whom she was betrothed, came together; that, when he grew up, several Miracles were performed not only by himself, but also by his Disciples in his Name; that those Miracles were of an extraordinary Nature, and consisted not only in feeding a great Multitude with a few Fishes, and in cureing the Leprosy by a Word of his Mouth, but also in bringing the dead back again to Life; that he entered Jerusalem riding on an Ass; that he was betrayed into the Hands of the high Priests by one Judas; that he was scourged; that he had a Crown of Thorns put upon his Head; that he was at last Crucified on the Day of the Preparation for the Passover: And that after his Death twelve of his Disciples went Abroad preaching these Things all over the World.

And indeed I cannot help taking Notice of one particularity that is mentioned of Simon Peter, who is said to be one of these twelve Disciples; which is, that this Simon Peter went about doing the same Kind of Wonders which his Master had done before; and among other things published everywhere, that he was sent by Jesus to declare that the Obligation to the ceremonial Laws of Moses was dissolved, according to the Prophecy of Isaiah, where he saith, Bring me no more vain Oblations, Incense is an Abomination to me, the New Moons and Sabbaths, the calling of Assemblies, I cannot away with; it is Iniquity even the solemn Meeting. Your New Moons,

and your appointed Feasts, my Soul hateth; they are a Trouble to me, I am weary to bear them: And again according to the Prophet Hosea, when he saith, * ye are not my People: And that he also declared, that it was in the Power of Jesus to have extirpated the whole Race of unbelieving Jews from off the Face of the Earth; but that he chose to continue them, in a State of Dispersion and Affliction, as living Witnesses and Memorials of that Crucifixion which he had submitted to for the Redemption of Mankind.

But then, in Order to invalidate the Force of this Testimony in Evidence of Jesus being the Messiah, these same Books speak of this Jesus as living during the Reign of Alexander Jannæus the Son of Hircanus; which, being about an hundred Years before the real Time of his Birth, would prevent the Prophecy of Daniel, which foretold that the coming of the Messiah should be in seventy Weeks after the Commandment went forth to build the second second Temple, from being applied to him. This Book likewise says that Mary the Mother of Jesus was gotten with Child by natural Means, being deceived by the contrivance of her Mother, who brought one Joseph to her Bed instead of her betrothed Husband, upon which her real Husband fled to Babylon. Which part of the History confutes itself; for can it be supposed that a young Woman of age sufficient for Marriage, whose Innocence, whose Modesty, her Enemies are far from impeaching, but rather speak in Praise of, should yet be so regardless of the Person of the Man to whom she was betrothed, as not to know him again when she saw him; or that she would be so careless even of her own Person, as not to be sure that the Man, whom she admitted to her Embraces, was the Person to whom she was betrothed? it seems to me indeed absurd to suppose it.

But what effectually discovers the Falseness of this Part of the Story is that Circumstance in the Narration, which mentions that her real Husband, instead of prosecuting either her, her Mother, or her Paramour.
mour, quitted the Country and went out of shame to Babylon. And now I appeal to the ingenuous Reader whether he can think this to be credible; that in those Days of Jealousy and of easy Divorce, a Person injured in so tender a Point, and where the Fact was notorious and needed so little Proof, should rather fly his Country, than do himself Justice in a legal Way?

This Part of the Story however though manifestly false as to the main of it, confirms that Part of the History of Jesus, as related by the Christians, which speaks of his being born of a betrothed Virgin, before she and her Spouse ever came together, for which she was never prosecuted. Which in those Days, when Adultery was so highly resented, and so severely punished, can hardly be accounted for by natural means.

As to the Miracles which Jesus is said to have performed, in order to take off the Effect of their Evidence, they are in the Talmud said to be done by the Power of Art Magick. And in the Sepher Toldoth Jesu his Method of acquiring this Magical Art is attributed to one of the strangest Devices Devices that ever entered into the Head of Man to invent; the bare Narration of which must I think carry its own Confutation along with it. For say they, these Miracles were performed by his having learned the Name Schemhamephoras. The Letters of which who ever learns may do whatever Miracles he pleaseth. Which Name it seems, they say, was written on the Stone which supported the Ark in the Sanctuary of the first Temple; and to defend which Name from being known for the Future, the Jewish Rabbins had prepared, by Virtue of pronouncing the same Name, two Lions of Brass, at the building of the second Temple, which they placed on two Columns over against the Door of the Sanctuary; so that whenever any one entered and had learned the Letters of the aforesaid Word, those Lions set up such a horrible Roar that being struck with the Terror thereof the Person, who had learned the Name, always forgot both the Word and the Letters. But that Jesus of Nazareth having entered, and learned the Name, wrote down the Letters in a piece of Parchment, ment, which he sowed up in his Thigh before he came out; so that when he returned, though he was so frighted by the Roar of the Lions that he had forgotten the Name, yet upon his going home, having opened his Thigh, he then learned the Word a fresh which he had forgotten: by the Virtue of which he was enabled to perform all those wonderful Works which are related of him.

I think it would be trifling with my Readers Time to make any Remarks upon this absurd Piece of History; which whatever Effect it might have had in the former Days of Ignorance and Credulity; I am persuaded will make no Impression at present on the Mind of any one, who has the least Tincture of Learning, or even the least Knowledge of the World, to the Prejudice of the Divine Authority of those Miracles, which these Authors allow were actually performed by Jesus of Nazareth. The Acknowledgment of which, by Persons prejudiced against him, establishes the Matter of Fact, of their having been performed, upon such a Footing, as to leave no Room for doubting the Truth of it.
But that the Proof, of Jesus of Nazareth's being the Messiah, may not depend upon such slight Evidence as this Book here referred to, I shall therefore proceed to shew, that all those Matters of Fact, which are reported of him by those who call themselves Christians, are really true.

Now as in all our Dealings between Man and Man when we want to be certified of the Truth of any Matter of Fact, of which, either on account of the Distance of Time or Place, we are incapable of being satisfied by the Evidence of our own Senses, we are necessarily obliged to have recourse to the Testimony of others; so of Consequence in the Case now before us, we must apply for our Satisfaction to the Testimony of others; according to the Degrees of which, we shall be obliged in Reason either to restrain, or to yield our Assent.

And as no Person ought to expect a greater Degree of Belief to be given to his Testimony, than the Nature of the Evidence demands; so ought no reasonable Man ever to require any more, or other Kind of Proof to be given for any Matter of of Fact, than the Nature of the Thing will bear.

Where the Proof of a Matter of Fact depends upon Testimony, the highest Degree of Proof, that can be given, hath been reduced by one of the strictest * Reasoners of the last Age to the Consideration of these Six Particulars. First, the Number of the Witnesses. Secondly, their Integrity. Thirdly, their Skill. Fourthly, the Design of the Author, where it is a Testimony out of a Book cited. Fifthly, the Consistency of the Parts, and Circumstances of the Relation. And Sixthly, Contrary Testimonies. I think therefore we cannot possibly take a fairer Method in the Proof of those Matters of Fact, which we want to evince, than by producing our Evidence, and trying it according to the Rules here prescribed.

(1) First then as to the Number of our Witnesses which though tolerably large, if we were to bring in the Epistles which were written by the Apostles of Jesus to their several Churches, yet for Brevity sake fake we shall insist only upon Four Witnesses, as being a sufficient Number for establishing of Truth. Two of which were the Eye Witnesses and Companions of the Life of Jesus; and the other two were contemporaries therewith, and had their Accounts from those who were Eye Witnesses. All which four have left the History of the Life and Conversation of Jesus in Writing behind them. The Names of these four Historians, who were all Jews, are Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

Matthew was a Publican, that is, one who received the Customs, or Tribute, that was at this Time paid by the Jews to the Romans; which was no advantagious Part of his Character, those who undertook that Employment being rendered thereby very odious to the rest of the Jews. His Hebrew Name was Levi the Son of Alphaeus, who having followed Jesus, and having been an Eye Witness of the Miracles which he performed, and being thereby convinced that he was the Messiah, wrote an Account count thereof for the Use of the Inhabitants of Palestine. Which Account having been written in the Hebrew, or rather Syriack Tongue in the Hebrew, or Chaldee Character, was soon translated into Greek for the Use of those who did not understand the other Language; which is the Copy that is now come to our Hands.

Mark was a Disciple, and Auditor, and Companion of Peter, who was one of the Apostles, and most early Disciples of Jesus; and is acknowledged as such in that Book, which I have before mentioned, entitled Sepher Toldos Jeshu.

Luke was in the same Circumstance with Mark, not an Eye-Witness himself, but having conversed with those that were, he wrote an History of the Life and Transactions of Jesus for the use of one Theophilus, as he himself informs us in the Introduction to his History, in this manner; For as much as many have taken in Hand to set forth in Order a Declaration of those Things which are most surely believed among us; even as they delivered them unto us, which from the Beginning were Eye-Eye-Witnesses, and Ministers of the Word: It seemed good to me also, having had perfect Understanding of all Things from the very first, to write unto thee in order, most excellent Theophilus, that thou mayest know the Certainty of those Things wherein thou hast been instructed.

The Words here rendered from the very first, are in the original expressed by the Word "Ἀναγκάζω", which may very fairly and honestly be translated from above according to its literal Signification, which would give his Testimony still greater Weight; but to avoid Disputes, I have quoted the Words of St. Luke according to the vulgar Translation; and will suppose his Testimony to have no other Force than that of an inquisitive Reporter of what he had heard: Though if the whole Paragraph here quoted be rightly considered, the Strength of his Argument for writing to Theophilus, upon a Subject which had been handled by others according to the Report of those which from the Beginning were Eye-Witnesses, and Ministers of the Word, must depend upon this, that that he had a stronger Assurance of the Truth of what he reports, than barely hearsay Evidence; having also been confirmed of the Truth thereof by Inspiration from Above.

Luke was a Physician by Profession, and of Consequence a Man of Letters; and being one of the many who expected the coming of the Messiah about that Time; if we suppose that he was only attentive to the Accounts which he heard of the Miracles of Jesus from the very first; and though no Eye-Witness himself, yet having taken his Information from those that were, must be allowed to be a good corroboration Evidence. Which also probably was the Case of Mark, who though he does not mention it, yet it is very likely that he was also attentive to those Things from the very first;

John was the favourite Disciple of Jesus, and having lived to a great Age, was pressed by his * Friends, to set down before his Death, an Account in Writing of the the History of Jesus; upon which having revised those Accounts which had been written by the three aforementioned Persons, he set down those Particulars of Moment which had been omitted by them. So that two of our Witnesses being Eye-Witnesses, and the other two having been attentive Enquirers from the very first into those Matters of Fact which they relate as told them by other Eye-Witnesses, there can be no Objection made to the Number of our Witnesses; since, if these two last mentioned should be rejected, there would still remain two, who were themselves Eye-Witnesses, and according to the Law of Moses, as well as the subsequent Practice of all Nations, two Witnesses are sufficient to establish the Truth of any Matter.

(2) We must now therefore proceed in the second Place to consider the Integrity of the Witnesses; for though their Numbers were never so great, if there is Reason to suspect their Integrity, the Degree of Assent which we are to yield to their Assertions, sertions, ought certainly to be regulated thereby. Now the Integrity of these Witnesses will appear, if we do but consider, in the first Place, the artless and undisguised manner in which their Narrations are related; so as not to conceal the Failings and Infirmitles either of themselves, or of their best Friends. Thus it is fairly acknowledged that Matthew was a Publican; nor is there the least Disguise thrown over the Ambition of the Sons of Zebedee; the Diffidence of Thomas; or the Backslidings of Peter, and the Timidity of the rest of the Apostles of Jesus; all which are set forth in the strongest Light. And what gives no small Proof of their Integrity is the Consideration, that although these four Witnesses agree in their Evidence, with Regard to the principal Matters of Fact, they yet disagree so much in the manner of their Narration, as to remove all Suspicion of any Collusion among them.

But what proves their Integrity beyond all manner of Dispute is, that they could have no Interest in publishing these Matters of Fact, but barely the Love of Truth; and and the distant Expectation of a future Reward in another World. For as to this World, they must have given that up from the Moment that Jesus declared in the Face of the whole Jewish People, at the Time of his Trial, that his Kingdom was not of this World.

But after his Death there could be no Hopes at all left, whatever Hopes they might have had till then, of any worldly Profit in being a Disciple of Jesus. For then daily Experience convinced them of the Truth of what Jesus had in his Life Time often declared unto them, that they should be as Lambs and Sheep in the midst of Wolves; That they should not escape better than their Master; but that as his Enemies had persecuted him, so should they persecute his Disciples also: That they should be put out of the Synagogues, nay, || the Time cometh, said he, when whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God Service. Which Sayings were probably verified in the particular Case

Case of every one of these four Historians; who certainly subjected themselves to Ignominy, Reproach and Persecution for the sake of that Doctrine, which they published to the World: And two of them undoubtedly suffered Death rather than retract that truth, which they had so publickly declared. So that after this there is no Room left to doubt of the Integrity of these Witnesses; since the suffering of Death, or even Persecution, in Justification of ones Opinion, whether true or false, is the strongest Proof which it is possible for any Man to give of his Integrity at least.

(3) But as it may be urged, that a Mans Honesty is no Proof of his Ability; and that these poor well meaning Men may have been deceived; therefore it will be necessary in the Third Place to consider the Skill of our Witnesses. And here it must be acknowledged that it does not appear, that these Persons were bred up to any great share of Literature, if we except St. Luke who was a Physician; But then it is to be observed on the other hand, that the Evidence to which their Testimony is produced duced requires no great Skill, either in judging of, or in the Narration. Whereas the Simplicity of their Lives and Conversations, as it renders them the freer from all Suspicion of attempting to impose upon their Readers; so does it make their Evidence the more credible; provided they had but Skill enough to prevent being imposed upon themselves, in the Things which they relate. Now as the History which they have written consists only in reporting certain Matters of Fact, which they saw and heard, every Man, that has but Eyes and Ears and common Sense, has Skill enough to be a Judge of such kind of Things. They tell you the Facts that Jesus did. They tell you the Words that he Spoke. The Consequence to be deduced from thence, belongs to the Reader as well as to them.

They tell you that he was born at Bethlehem, and that he lived at Nazareth, and that he went about, during the last three Years and a half of his Life, doing certain Works which appeared to them to be miraculous; and that Jesus argued from thence to prove the Divinity of his Mission:
tion: But it is the Reader's Business to judge whether that Argument be conclusive.

They tell you what those Works were: Feeding thousands of People with two Loaves of Bread, and a few small Fishes; healing the Sick in an Instant; curing the Leprous; the Blind; the Deaf; and the Lame; And what is more than all, bringing the Dead back again to Life; not only after they had been dead some Hours, but some Days; One when he was actually carrying upon the Bier to the Grave; and another after he had been some Days in the Grave. They tell you that he entered into Jerusalem riding upon an Ass; that he was betrayed by one Judas in the Reign of the Roman Emperor Tiberius; that he was ordered to be Crucified by the Roman Governor Pontius Pilate at the earnest Solicitation of the Jews; and that he was buried in the Tomb belonging to one Joseph of Arimathæa; that he rose from thence on the third Day, and was seen and felt by his Disciples, and conversed frequently with them for 40 Days afterwards.

Now
Now it requires no great Skill in any Witness to be a Judge of all these kind of things; and to tell whether a Man be blind, or has his Eyesight; whether he be leprous or clean; alive or dead: And with a very small Degree of Attention, any Person with the meanest Abilities hath Skill sufficient to judge, whether these wonderfull Cures were done according to the ordinary Rules of Physick, or were effected in a Moment, by a Touch of the Hand, or even by the Speaking of a Word. So that with Regard to such Transactions as these, no Objection can lie against the Skill of these Witnesses.

(4) Hence we come in the Fourth Place to consider the Design of these Authors. Which certainly could not be bad; as the whole Purport of the Religion which they inculcate is evidently calculated to recommend Piety towards God, and good Will towards Man. Nor is it credible that these Books could have been written with an evil Design of imposing on the World, when we consider that the Authors could be no Gainers by such an Imposture. When the Christian Religion began to be countenanced by Princes and Potentates, and had once gotten some Footing in the World. Interest, or Vanity, or a misguided Zeal, might have excited some weak Men to the Practice of pious Frauds in privately composing some Books to propagate their own Opinions. But this is not the Case of the Authors now before us, who publickly avowed their own Works, and at a Time when they could have no View either of worldly Profit or Praise. Nor is it reasonable to think that had they known the Christian Religion to have been false, their Zeal would ever have allowed them to proceed so far in the Cheat, as to be real Sufferers themselves, only that others might be the Gainers. Nor would they have endured Persecution rather than retract, or suffer Death rather than deny, the Truth of what they asserted. And when we consider that the general Purport of these Books is to recommend the Practice of Virtue and Goodness and the Love of Truth, we may be sure that real Falsehood would never take Pains to bring about these Purposes; poses; since whatever Guise it may assume, and put outwardly upon itself, something very different from all these would lye hid underneath; and that, let the Pretences be never so specious, something of Worldly Interest would be couched at the Bottom. Whereas these Authors, who wrote the History of a Person after he was dead, whom they acknowledge and declare to have been ignominiously crucified, must be acquitted from having any such Design.

(5) So that we may proceed in the Fifth Place, to consider the Consistency of the Parts, and the Circumstances of the Relation. Which will bear but very little Controversy; since whoever will give himself the Trouble of reading these four Authors will see one general Scheme carried on through each of them; wherein they give us a short account of the Life of Jesus, from his Birth to the Time of his Ascension into Heaven. In which they are not only so consistent with themselves, but also with each other, as to produce a wonderfull and surprizing Harmony, whenever they are compared together: though they were were written at different Times, and in very different Parts of the World. And whoever compares them will find a sufficient Difference in the circumstantial Parts of the Narration, though not in the material, to prevent the Suspicion of the least Possibility of Combination; as the few Places and small Circumstances, which at first view seem to disagree, are of such Nature that they either admit an easy Reconciliation, or must be ascribed to a Mistake in the Transcribers of the Copies.

To which it may further be added, that these Books have been handed down, as those of the Old Testament were from Father to Son; with this Difference, that the Christians were not of one Nation, as the Jews were, and therefore the less likely to enter into any combination or Collusion, either in the Composition or Communication of them; And that they were never entirely missing, but that we can trace them back directly to the Fountain Head.

And indeed there is one Circumstance attending these Histories to the Veracity of which the Jews themselves, as well as the City of Jerusalem, are a standing and a living Evidence; which is, that they contain a Prophecy relating to the Dispersion of the Jews, and the Destruction of the Temple, which continues daily to be fulfilled. The Force of which was attempted to be eluded by the Emperor Julian, who employed the Power of the Roman Empire in endeavouring to rebuild the Temple, and replace the Jews in their own Land; but was defeated of his Purposes, by the visible but supernatural Eruption of Globes of Fire through the Foundations of the Temple, which never ceased scattering Destruction about them, till the undertakers desisted from their Attempt. Which is a Matter of Fact, in which all Historians who mention those Times and Transactions, whether Christian, Jewish, or Heathen, unanimously agree in.

(6) Having thus considered the Consistency of the Parts, and the Circumstances of the History of the Life of Jesus, as related by the four Evangelists, we come now to the the Sixth, and last Criterion, by which the Truth of this History is to be tried, which is the Contrary Testimonies. And under this Head I am sure it does not yet appear, that any have ever been produced, which will in the least invalidate their Testimony.

Whereas if the Adversaries of Christianity who lived at that Time, when the Gospels were written, had not been sure, that those things were really true as they are set down, we may be certain that, as they wanted not Abilities, so neither would they have wanted Inclinations to have exposed them.

But if the Evidence of those Persons who were bred up in a contrary opinion, and continued to be Adversaries to Christianity till they were advanced in Years, though afterwards convinced of their Errors, may be comprehended under the Character of contrary Testimonies; then some of the strongest Proofs, which are to be produced for the Corroborating and confirming of the Truth of the History, as related by these four Evangelists, are of this Kind; For of this Sort were all the early Converts Converts to Christianity: But in particular Paul of Tarsus; who was at first not only not a Friend to Christianity, but a bitter Enemy to it; persecuting the Church and binding and delivering into Prison both Men and Women. Whole Epistles are come down to our Hands, giving an Account of his Conversion, and the History of the principal Part of whose Life is likewise still extant, in the Book entitled, the Acts of the Apostles, written by his Companion Luke, who is one of the four Evangelists.

But if under the Head of contrary Testimonies those only are to be comprehended, who lived and died of a contrary Perwasion; we have great Reason to lament the Loss of that Account, which Pontius Pilate sent to Tiberius Caesar, the then Roman Emperor, of the Transactions which passed during his Government of Judea. For that Jesus was therein mentioned in an extraordinary manner we have great Reason to believe from the Works of Justin Martyr, who lived about 100 Years after the Death of Jesus; and who, in his Apology Apology for the Christian Religion, which he * dedicated to the Emperor Antoninus, to the Caesars his Sons, and to the whole Senate and People of Rome, and which he delivered in, being then an Inhabitant of that City himself, appealed to this Record for the Truth of what he affirmed in Favour of Jesus. The Works however of Tacitus, Suetonius, and Dion Cassius, all Heathen Writers, are come down to our Hands, and they confirm that Circumstance mentioned by the four Evangelists of an Order being issued from Augustus Caesar that the whole Empire should be taxed. And Tacitus particularly mentions, that in the Reign of Tiberius, when Pontius Pilate was Governor of Judæa, Jesus was brought in Judgment before him condemned and Crucified. And both he and Suetonius mention the current Report then prevalent, that some Person coming out of Judæa should obtain the Dominion of the Earth. Which though they apply

* Euseb. Eccles. Hist. L. iv. C. xi. xii  † Tacit. An-
apply wrongly to the then reigning Roman Emperors, who had been in Judæa, is an undoubted Proof however that there was a general Expectation, which prevailed about that Time, of some extraordinary Person arising in Judæa. And whence should this Report arise? But from the Prophetick Writings of the Jews, which gave them Expectations of the coming of their Messiah about that Time, whom they, as well as the aforementioned Historians, falsely understood to be a temporal Prince, and a triumphant worldly Hero.

And I think I may venture to affirm, that where any Heathen Writers have mentioned any of the Particulars which are recorded by the four Evangelists, instead of contradicting them, they always confirm their Testimony: And for the Truth of this I will venture to appeal even to your own Historian, the famous Josephus.

But it is not to be wondered at, if many Instances are not to be produced of this Nature; First, because there were few or no Historians who lived in Judæa, where these Transactions happened. And Secondly, ly, because the Actions performed by Jesus are not such, as are the proper Subjects of History; which concerns itself more with Politicks, than Religion. But where the Subject of any of the prophane Historians hath led them to treat about those Affairs which referred to the History of Jesus, there we always find a remarkable Confirmation of the Veracity of these four Evangelists, without any one Instance that I have ever yet heard of to the contrary.

Even Celsus, Julian, Porphyry, and Hieracles, who were all not only Pagans, but professed Enemies of Christianity, acknowledge the Matters of Fact, and allow the Miracles recorded of Jesus to have been performed; but only deny them to have been done by the Power of God; and ascribe them to the Power of Art-Magic: As also does the History of the Life of Jesus before mentined, which was written by a professed Jew. And surely the Testimony of the Jews themselves must be allowed to be of no small Weight in this Affair.

fair. Especially when we consider that according to their own Traditions one of the characteristic Marks, whereby the Messiah is to be known, is the Power which he shall exercise in the Performance of Miracles, which Miracles, says the Tradition, shall by the Ungodly of those Days be attributed not to the Hand of God, but the Power of Art-Magick.

And thus having gone through the Six Criterions, which are fixed by Mr. Lock, as sufficient Tests for ascertaining and establishing the Degrees of Probability: And having shewed, that the Number of our Witnesses is such, as hath been thought sufficient in all Ages to determine our Assent, even in the Courts of Judicature; that their having suffered Persecution and Death rather than retract their Assertions, is a sufficient Proof of their Integrity; that they had Skill equal to their Undertaking, which was only to relate Matters of Fact; that the Design of these Authors could not be to deceive, as there was no Possi-

Possibility of their gaining any Thing thereby; that the Parts, as well as Circumstances of their Relation, were all consistent together, and concurred in carrying on the general Scheme of a Messiah; and that no contrary Testimonies can be produced, but what rather tend to prove that Jesus was that Messiah; I think we may in the Words of Mr. * Lock also assert, that "where all these concur in the Proof of any one Thing, there Probability upon such Grounds carries so much Evidence with it, that it naturally determines the Judgment, and leaves us as little Liberty to believe or disbelieve, as a Demonstration does whether we will know, or be ignorant.

So that the only Difficulty which seems to remain is this; which must indeed be acknowledged as a Thing at first Sight to be wondered at, that if these Things are true, and that they are true I think can hardly be doubted, how it comes to pass that the Jews, who were perpetually looking into and searching, the prophetical Writings; and who were at the Time of the coming of Jesus, waiting for Redemption in Jerusalem; and we're then in full Expectation of the coming of the Messiah; should not more universally, than they did, acknowledge the completion of these Prophecies in the Person of Jesus? The Reason however is not very difficult to assign; if we do but consider the strong Impression which the Thoughts of a triumphant Messiah in the Form of an heroick and worldly Prince had made upon their Minds; together with the strong Tendency, which seems implanted by God in all Mankind towards that Religion in which they have been educated, whence arise most of those Difficulties that every one meets with in his Attempt to make Converts from any one Religion to another; especially to a Religion, which required the Mortification of their Passions, their quitting their worldly Interests, and which obliged them utterly to relinquish those Ceremonies in which they had been bred up from their Infancy;

† Lu. ii. 38. Job i. 41. iv. 25.
Insanity: Which whoever tries will find very difficult to bring about, even with those who are educated in the most absurd Doctrines of Popery, or Heathenism or Mahometanism.

For though Almighty God in his Dispensations with Mankind is willing to afford them a reasonable Degree of Conviction, such as is sufficient to prevail with Men of teachable, unprejudiced, and impartial Dispositions; yet he hath not made the Investigation of Truth so easy, or so plain, in any one Branch of Knowledge, as to strike the Indolent and Uninquisitive; or to necessitate and force the Assent of the prejudiced and perverse: Because this would take away the Virtue and Merit of an impartial Enquiry, and remove all Claim and Title to Rewards and Punishments. And for this Reason Almighty God was pleased to describe the coming of the Messiah in such a Manner, as that Men of unprejudiced Minds, whose Affections were not tied to this World, might know him and distinguish him from all others, and of Consequence believe in him, when he did did come: But that Men of worldly Minds, and perverse Passions, might yet have Room to meet with strong Delusion, and believe a Lie. That none of the Wicked should understand it, but that the Wise should understand it. And hence, although these Prophecies, which described the Person of the Messiah, as beforementioned, at the Time of his first coming, represented him in a lowly, and humble Character, and as in a State of Humiliation; yet when the same Prophets spake of his second coming in the latter Days, those Prophecies were expressed in all the Pomp and Glory, and Magnificence, that the elevated Pen of an Eastern Genius could express. That he should * have Dominion from Sea to Sea, and from the River to the Ends of the Earth. † That his Name should be great among the Gentiles, from the rising up of the Sun to the going down of the same. That in every Place Incense should be offered unto his Name. And that || of the Increase of his

* Ps. lxix. 8. † Mal. i. 11. || If. ix. 7.
Government, and Peace, there should be no End. Which last Character being more acceptable to Men of worldly and sensual Inclinations, when such consulted the Bible, they could easily see their Messiah typified in David or Solomon, but could not bear to think of his being typified by the Offering up of Isaac, or the Institution of the Paschal Lamb.

And hence it came to pass, that although the coming of Jesus as the Messiah, in so mean a Character as that of a Carpenter's Son, and who was afterwards Crucified, was acknowledged by Anna and Simeon, and some illiterate Fishermen, it was yet a stumbling-Block to the Jews, and to the Greeks Foolishness. It seemed a Contradiction in Terms, to Men of worldly Minds, and who valued themselves for their worldly Wisdom, to suppose a Deliverer could be Crucified; and a Redeemer put to Death. They saw no Slavery in Sin; and therefore thought of no Deliverance from thence; nor of any Redemption from the Power of the Grave. They desired no Exemption, but from the Roman Yoke;
Yoke; no Triumph but over worldly Enemies; and no Victory but over Armies that opposed them. They never considered that they were greater Slaves to their own Passions, than they were to the Roman Senate; that Death and Hell were the worst of Enemies; and the Devil a greater Tyrant than Caesar.

But as I do not apprehend that you are of this Cast of mind, I have taken the Liberty of laying these Papers before you for your Perusal, and I trust in God for your Conviction; and I beseech the great God, to whom the Secrets of all Hearts are open, to send that holy Spirit, which he sent to illuminate the Minds of the Prophets of old, into your Hearts to inspire you with the Love and Knowledge of Truth; and that he will remove from you all Ignorance and Hardness of Heart, and give you a right Judgement in all Things; that forsaking all worldly and carnal Affections, you may acknowledge the true Messiah, and by humbling your Thoughts to confess him.
him in his State of Humiliation, may be admitted to partake with him in his State of Exaltation and Glory. Which is and shall be the constant Prayer of

S. I. R.,

Your sincere Wellwisher,

And humble Servant,
